Illicit Whiskey Business
One of the Biggest In America.
COUNTRY NOT DRY
Kramer Says It Will Take
Generations To Eliminate
Booze.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Facing a condition of affairs in which the illicit whiskey business is shown to be the biggest business in America, both from point of capital invested and the number of men engaged in it, prohibition officials frankly admitted today that the country is not dry and it won't be dry for at least a generation and that the only hope of making it dry now lies in a crystallization of public sentiment behind existing law.

The enforcement people have gone just about as far as they can go. Congress is cutting down their appropriations along with the general slashing and even a curtailment of the present forces may be necessary. Meanwhile millions of dollars continued to be turned over in the biggest unrecognition business and thousands of men continue to engage in it. Prohibition officials, among them John F. Kramer, see one hope—the crystallization of public sentiment in favor of law observance and enforcement.

Spent Changing.
The crystallization, they believe, is coming. They point out that in several large cities there have been recently appeared in the newspapers page advertisements paid for by "non dries" urging respect for law.

A condition of affairs in which even officials who are sworn to enforce the law now frankly disregard it will not be permitted to continue, they believe. "The United States is not dry and I will be dead and gone before it will be dry," said Kramer today in the frankest explanation of existing conditions that he has yet attempted. "Liquor like the poor, I believe, we will always have with us. A prohibition law of itself will not make this country dry in anything except theory. Public sentiment must be behind it to make it effective. We are doing all we can now and hoping for the best."

"I believe that sentiment is crystallizing. I believe that this nation is dry forever, in that the prohibition law never will be erased from the statute books. Neither do I think there is a possibility of light wines and beer amendment."

U. S. OFFICER WHO DEFIED GERMAN
NAVAL OFFICIALS

Commander Theodore C. Ellyson, U. S. N., former commander of the U. S. destroyer Brooks, who defied the German naval authorities who gave him thirty minutes to move the American destroyer from Kiel harbor. He recently arrived in New York after being ordered home and relieved of his command. The Kiel Harbor incident took place September 20 last. Commander Ellyson had been ordered to Kiel and there await the arrival of his superior officer, Vice-Admiral Huse. When the Brooks anchored in the harbor the German commander boarded her and ordered Commander Brooks to take the Brooks out of the harbor in thirty minutes or be fired upon. Ellyson refused, saying he had been ordered to stay there. He stayed there for twenty-four hours and was not fired at. He is thirty-five years old and has been in the navy for fifteen years.

WORK OF HOOVER IS DEBATED IN SENATE

Washington, Jan. 7.—Herbert Hoover's administration of food relief enterprises in Europe was criticized and praised in the senate during an hour of debate resulting from recent charges of Senator Reed Democrat, Missouri, that Mr. Hoover had used a part of America's relief appropriations for maintenance of the Polish army.

Mail Cars Looted As Train
Is Enroute To Philadelphia.

New York, Jan. 7.—A mysterious train robbery in which a number of U. S. mail bags were rifled, on train No. 203, bound from New York to Philadelphia, last night, was reported to the Pennsylvania railroad by the station master of Broad street station, Philadelphia, today. The mail bags were rifled and their contents stolen. No estimate is yet available of the value of the stolen goods, but it is believed that registered mail containing checks and money orders was included in the loot.

Boston, Jan. 7.—Calvin Coolidge was a plain citizen last night for the first time in years. As such he went to the family fireside at Northampton for a husband's and father's rest from the affairs of state before going to the national capital in March as vice president.

BRITAIN BLOCKS
FRANCE'S PLAN
FOR 'NEW PEACE'

Would Make Conference Of
Allied Premiers "Second Versailles."
WANT TREATY CHANGE
England Opposed To Any
Plans Except German
Disarmament.

Britain, Jan. 7.—Great Britain is blocking France's attempt to make the conference of the allied premiers virtually a "second peace conference" for reconvancing and redressing a multitude of European questions arising from the war.

When the premiers convene in Paris on Jan. 19, France wants to go into details on a great variety of problems affecting many nations. The French attitude is that many of the old decisions should be annulled and new agreements reached in the light of developments during the past six or eight months.

The attitude of Great Britain was revealed today when the foreign office announced that Great Britain has given official notification to the other allied powers that the conference must be brief, dealing only with German disarmament.

Great Britain will refuse to tackle treaty revision. France evidently had hoped for revision of the treaty of Sevres (the Turkish treaty) to take away some of the benefits Greece had received under the Venizelos administration. However, Britain is opposed to any such action at this time, despite the British opposition to King Constantine.

The question of German reparations cannot be finally decided until the Brussels conference is concluded. A conference on indemnity and other economic questions were scheduled for Jan. 10 in Brussels, but it has been postponed until the 15th. It may be three or four months until the details of German indemnity are finally threshed out.

INAUGURATION WILL BE SELF SUPPORTING DECLARE OFFICIALS

Denial Made Of Lavish
Costs Of Program
March 4.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Rumors of "lavish expenditures" of the public's money for the ceremony attendant upon the inauguration of President-elect Warren G. Harding and Vice-President-elect Calvin Coolidge, were set at rest by a statement from Edward B. McLean, chairman of the Inaugural Committee, who explained that the principal inaugural features are "self-supporting."

"A mistaken idea that the Government is paying the entire expense of the inauguration with the people's money appears to have been spread abroad," said Mr. McLean, "and this should be corrected. The government spends little upon the inauguration of a president appropriating funds for the necessary police protection and the stands at the Capitol for the members of Congress."

The inaugural reception and ball is self supporting, and the revenue from this source, together with that from the souvenirs and seats in the street reviewing stands which amounts to very little to each individual, but form a considerable aggregate take care of other expenses.

SUES FATHER FOR
$600,000 ON LIBEL
CHARGE IN WEST

Mrs. Virginia Giroux Sauter, of Los Angeles, who has filed suit against her father, Joseph L. Giroux, millionaire mining man, for $600,000, alleging libel. Her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Giroux, now dead, was divorced by Giroux twenty-seven years ago. Last June in Nevada, the father shot and killed George Giroux, supposed to have been his son. Giroux, it is said, denied the relationship and pleaded self-defense declaring the dead man had tried to blackmail him of $25,000. Mrs. Sauter says her suit is intended to vindicate her mother and dead brother.

CONVICTS SET FIRE TO STATE PRISON
OF WEST VIRGINIA

Prisoner Serving Life
Term Escapes During
Trouble.

Moundsville, W. Va., Jan. 7.—A tailor shop in the West Virginia penitentiary here was set on fire last night by several convicts who tried to escape.

The prisoners cut a big belt in the engine room and when it snapped, the lights in all sections of the penitentiary went out. Then they attacked several other prisoners in the engine room.

Warden Terrill announced that one prisoner, a man serving a life term, had escaped during the trouble.

A few minutes after the fire was discovered in the tailor shop, which is inside the prison walls, the lights went out. Armed guards started round-up of the prisoners, escorting them to their cells, and Warden Terrill reported that there was little trouble experienced in this work.

The Moundsville fire department was summoned and the firemen assisted by guards and a few trustees soon had the blaze under control. The damage to the tailor shop was slight.

TWO HOUR BATTLE
FOUGHT IN COUNTY OF IRELAND FRIDAY

Extent Of Casualties Not Determined—Follows
Raid.

Dublin, Jan. 7.—A two hour battle was fought at Dunganon, county Tyrone, today between a strong detachment of police and Sinn Feiners but the extent of the casualties is unknown. The fighting started during a raid by policemen for arms and ammunition. There were heavy seizures including formulae for making explosives.

Republican guards, spread the alarm when the raiding began and civilians rushed up to attack the police.

ARMY OFFICERS
VISIT HARDING;
TALK ECONOMY

President-elect Favors Senator
Wadsworth as War
Secretary.
REDUCE EXPENSES
Lowering Of Cost Must Be Done Without Danger to Nation.

Marion, O., Jan. 7.—It is Senator Harding's intention that the enlisted force of the United States army be cut to 175,000 men immediately and further reduced to 150,000 within the next fiscal year, according to Rep. Julius Kahn, who conferred with the president elect today.

"Senator Harding knows that the millennium has not come," said Mr. Kahn. "He realizes that this nation has to move so as to defend the right of its citizens, but he is determined that waste must stop at once. He wants a sensible military establishment."

Marion, O., Jan. 7.—Ruffle of drums and flourish of trumpets were discarded today in favor of earnest discussion when the future commander in chief of the army of the United States considered the efficiency and welfare of the men soon to be under his direction. Senator Harding went exhaustively into the military policy of the country with Rep. Julius Kahn, chairman of the house military affairs committee.

Rep. Kahn, it is understood, placed before the president elect the plans of the majority in congress for cutting down the expense of the army and outlined the extent to which he thought the enlisted forces could be reduced without danger to national defense.

Senator Harding, it is known, expects that economy can be attained and is insistent that it must be obtained without danger to the nation. In discussing preparedness with officers who saw service in France, he announced that he intended to appoint a secretary of war who would be capable of producing results desired.

Col. Judah Present.
The delegation which consisted of Lieut. Colonel Noble B. Judah, Colonel Horatia B. Hackett, Lieut. Colonel Carl Klemm, of Kansas City, urged on the president elect that he reduce the term of enlistment in the army from three years to one. This policy they said, would turn out into civil life approximately 150,000 trained men a year. They also advised compulsory military training but it is asserted that Senator Harding himself favors a system of voluntary training.

It is understood that the military visitors discussed with Senator Harding the selection of a secretary of war and that the name of Senator James Wadsworth of New York was advanced.

Senator Harding, it is declared, intended to the veterans that he would be glad to appoint Senator Wadsworth if he could induce the latter to accept. Rep. Kahn, regarded as one of the authorities on military affairs in congress, himself has been prominently mentioned for the post.

Clarence B. Miller, secretary of the Republican national committee also conferred with Senator Harding today.

URGE ABROGATION
OF ANGLO-JAPANESE
TREATY IN PAPER

Tokio, Jan. 7.—Abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance was urged today by the newspaper Asaka Asahi in its comment upon the American proposal that the United States, Great Britain and Japan declare a "holiday" in the construction of sea armaments. This newspaper is one of the most influential in Japan.

The newspaper argued that it would be much easier to arrive at an understanding with the United States if the alliance were abolished adding that England no longer needs Japan. England's post war policy, continued the newspaper, is based upon pro-Americanism and the country apparently resolved to overcome all difficulties to establish an Anglo-Saxon alliance.

General Crowder was dispatched to Cuba by the President following many appeals from many officials and citizens of Cuba that the United States intervene and supervise elections so that a stable and just government can be established. Conditions there are such, it is said, that there is a probability that the United States will be forced to intervene.

HONOR MEMORY OF
ROOSEVELT IN LAYING OF CORNER STONE

First Work Of Monument
Is Viewed By Large
Throng.

New York, Jan. 7.—In the narrow street of his birth the "Great American" lived again yesterday for an hour.

A flag waving in the west wind; voices of children from other countries lifted in song; eyes dimming when the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." And through it all sense of a high hearted presence, beloved of America in years that have passed.

Such was the laying of the corner stone of what is the greatest monument to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt the "Roosevelt House" for the promotion of Americanism.

Several hundred men and women gathered before the new vacant building at 28 East Twentieth street, where once stood the house where Col. Roosevelt was born in 1858, and where he lived until he was 13 years old.

EXPENSES SLASHED
IN HALF, REPORT

Washington, Jan. 7.—The cost of running the U. S. Government last year amounted to approximately $5,064,000,000 as against $11,728,000,000 in 1919. The total expenditures outside of payments on the public debt were revealed in accounts obtained from the daily treasury statements.

Treasury officials said tonight that while ordinary disbursements had not yet come down to the $4,000,000,000 mark set by Secretary Houston in his estimate of revenues needed for future fiscal years, expenditures would continue to fall. Gradual liquidation of war claims and expenses, officials declared explained the drop in expenditures, which they added, would have been greater but for the additional burdens, such as loans and advances to the railroads imposed on the treasury.

Ordinary receipts for 1920 amounted to $6,431,000,000 in round numbers as against $6,772,000,000 for the previous year. Collections of income and profits taxes totaled $3,570,000,000 in the past year, compared with $4,337,000,000 in 1919.

THREATS ARE MADE

Precautionary Measures
Are Being Taken By Government.

London, Jan. 7.—The menace of unemployment in Great Britain is growing at an alarming rate. More than 700,000 unemployed are registered with the government, but, according to an authentic estimate today the number actually exceed 1,000,000. The great army of unemployed has been increased by 100,000 in the past fortnight.

Precautionary measures are being taken to cope with rioting especially in London where the leaders are again threatening to march upon the premier's residence and parliament building.

Among the bolshevik sympathizers there are some who go so far as to claim that the leaders of the unemployed are secretly working out plans for a revolution. They are counting upon support from the British troops. A great part of the army garrisoning England at this time is made up of boys and men who reenlisted because they could not get work after the war.

The unemployed are organized and have efficient leaders. All of the British government's and other permanent schemes of relief have failed so far. In the meanwhile the councils of the federation of unemployed are tightening their organization. Communists have been making an effort to manipulate the dissatisfaction into channels of revolution and seem to have met with considerable sympathy in some quarters.

Probe Outbreak
A probe of the outbreak at Islington on Monday, when the unemployed attempted to storm the library from which they had been previously ejected revealed that small groups of malcontents had been transported from Acton with troops in procession.

Action is the headquarters of the organization of unemployed. Newspapers report that leaders of the unemployed in the east end, the district where the working classes and the poor live, are threatening to swoop down on West End shops, and loot them if the police adopt extreme measures in dealing with unemployment demonstrations. The West End is the seat of the richest and most fashionable stores in London.

The fear that the unemployed could hope for support from a part of the army in the event of a general uprising is small and fears of such a contingency are generally discounted. However even the suggestion of such a thing is significant exposition of the prevailing temper.

Trade relation agreements with soviet Russia seems to have been broken off.

Sir Robert Horne's scheme for financing trade with central Europe seems to have struck a snag.

The slump in the domestic industrial situation is strikingly emphasized by the November railroad returns which show a falling off of 5,000,000 pounds sterling. From every angle the situation grows worse steadily.

SERIES OF BLASTS
INJURE WORKMEN

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 7.—A series of explosions of uncertain origin in the plant of the Indiana General Service company here today resulted in injury to several workmen, two of whom may die. One man, whom rescuers were unable to reach was reported dead in a deep pit.

BLACK HAND HELD
GUILTY OF CRIME

Youngstown, Jan. 7.—With throat cut from ear to ear, an eye gouged out and 35 stilette wounds in his body, an unidentified Italian, aged about 28, was found brutally murdered in a clump of bushes in a ravine here this morning.

Police hope to establish identity from the name of a tailor, Nicola Zinni, 14290 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, found on the dead man's clothing, and from a photograph upon which was inscribed the name "James Boylan." An old scar on his chin may also lead to identification. He is 5 feet, 3 inches tall and smooth faced. This is the second black hand murder to occur here this week.

NEW YORK NOT TO SEE TITULAR BOUT

New York, Jan. 7.—Gotham's chances of landing the titular struggle between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier have been wiped off the slate.

Even the scheduled championship bout between Dempsey and Jess Willard, set for March 17, at Madison Square Garden, is an uncertainty today.

These are the deductions of boxing fans here as a result of the action of the New York state boxing commission which has ruled that $15 is the top figure that may be charged for a championship bout and $10 the limit for ordinary fistfights.

Tex Rickard, William Brady and Charles B. Cochran, who have signed Dempsey and Carpentier to battle for a purse of $500,000 will not see their way clear to stage the match here under these conditions.

STATE BUDGET CALLS FOR OVER 91 MILLIONS

This amount is over $36,000,000 greater than the aggregate expenditures by the state government during the two years ending June 30 next. Harper stated that expenditures for the two year period ending next June is estimated to total $55,413,365.

A total of $105,613,622 to be spent during the next two years was asked for by heads of state bureaus and departments.

The tremendous boost is attributed by Commissioner Harper to the new school levy, increased from .055 to 1.8 mills and the new highway levy, raised to .5 from .3 mills.

WAR ON BOOTLEGGERS TO FOLLOW FINING OF THREE MEN

Three fines in the liquor cases that have been stirred up in Greene County by Sheriff Funderburg and Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson, were meted out by Magistrate J. E. Jones, Thursday afternoon.

John Hancock of Fairfield, charged with selling, furnishing and delivering intoxicating liquors entered a plea of guilty before the justice Thursday afternoon and was fined $200 and costs.

Gilbert Shade, who was arrested at Miamisburg and charged with delivering intoxicating liquors, was fined $200 and costs. Clarence Slater, proprietor of a Fairfield pool room, charged with keeping a place where intoxicating liquors are sold and of selling, furnishing and delivering intoxicants changed his plea of not guilty to guilty on the charge of keeping a place and was fined $200 and costs. The other charge against him was dismissed.

The arrest of all three of these men, and of Goldie Rohrer, who is out on $2,000 bond for appearance next Tuesday, was the result of the shooting scrape at Osborn last week when Joseph Abel, Orlo Holden and Charles Chastain, were wounded by Marshal W. A. Schneider, Abel's wounds proving fatal.

The case of William Sidenstricker of Bellbrook, charged with selling, furnishing and delivering intoxicating liquors, which was to have been heard in Magistrate's court Friday morning at 9 o'clock has been postponed until next Thursday at nine o'clock, on motion of Sidenstricker's attorney.

Howard Guy, 28, and Charles Kemp, 48, were arrested at Bellbrook Thursday by the Sheriff and his deputies on their alleged knowledge of the Sidenstricker case. It is said that Guy admitted he had secured liquor from Sidenstricker, and he was released Kemp, who refused to talk, was held in the county jail.

War on bootleggers has been declared according to Prosecuting Attorney Williamson. Sheriff Funderburg stated Friday morning that with the backing of the people he would rid the county of bootlegging, and the numerous arrests which have taken place, are first steps in the campaign, it is said.

ENGLISH WOMAN TO DELIVER ADDRESS IN XENIA THURSDAY

Miss Agnes Slack, of London, England, world secretary of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, who has been touring the United States and Canada for three months will deliver an address at the Second United Presbyterian church at two o'clock Thursday afternoon, January 13.

Miss Slack came to America as a delegate to the Non-Alcoholic Congress at Washington, D. C., all her expenses being paid by the United States Government. She will sail for England soon and is now on her way back to the coast, stopping in this city as the guest of the Greene County W. C. T. U.

Miss Slack is a woman of wide experience and travel. She has the distinction of being the only woman who has occupied the pulpit in the famous John Wesley Church of London, England, and is a sister of the late Sir John Banford-Slack, who was not only an exceedingly able and well known lawyer in London but was celebrated as one of the best lay preachers of the Wesley M. E. Church in Great Britain.

CHRISTMAS DAY IS CELEBRATED BY GREEKS JANUARY 7

Today, Friday, is Christmas.

This statement need not arouse in the breast of anyone a sense of the fleeting of time, or the necessity of another shopping attack upon the family pocketbook.

Friday, while being Christmas Day, is only celebrated as such by those who were born in Greece or are of Greek parentage. The Christmas celebrated by the Greeks occurs 13 days after the American Christmas Day, December 25.

Special Christmas Day services are held on this day in the Greek Orthodox Churches of the country, and many Greeks living in cities where there is no church, make pilgrimage to the churches in Cincinnati or Indianapolis. No local Greeks are attending the services.

Christmas is celebrated by feasting and parties. Contrary to the American idea, there is no exchange of gifts on Christmas Day, the Greeks following this custom on New Years Day, January 13.

CAN TELL SEVERITY OF WINTER BY FUZZY CATERPILLERS; MILD WEATHER CONTINUES

Is old King Winter going to skid by this year with only the little bluster of real weather that he dished out early in the season?

Frank W. Dodds, president of the Chamber of Commerce, referring to an ancient tradition, lets the "wooly-worms" or caterpillars, decide this question.

While taking no responsibility as to how nearly correct the prophecy is, Mr. Dodds says it is an old tradition that the forthcoming weather can be foretold by a careful examination of these fuzzy little worms. This winter, says Mr. Dodds, the caterpillars are all brown with the exception of a bit of black at both ends of themselves, which according to the "medicine man" dope is a sign that real wintry weather will only exist at the start and at the end of the official winter season.

From present indications, the caterpillar is a better criterion of the weather than the government's paid experts, as spring-time weather has existed here since the first few blusters early in the season. While Mr. Dodds claims no uncanny prophetic powers for the caterpillars, he hopes with the majority that this time at least, they prove correct in their sale of sages.

REMEMBER WHAT WE TOLD YOU LAST JANUARY?

We told you to "buy furniture now," and hundreds did—just look at what they saved. We say it again with a lot of emphasis on the "buy now," as there is no telling when wholesale prices will come down to the prices we have marked all furniture for this sale. We are always alert to be in advance of the times and to give our patrons every possible advantage in furniture buying.

We give everyone the opportunity to buy our high grade Furniture, Rugs and Stoves at cut prices instead of waiting a year or more for prices to come down.

Our advice, like last January, is to "buy now," as it will mean a big saving to those intending to furnish a single room or a home this year.

THE TRUTH ABOUT MEXICO—YUCATAN'S SISIL SUPERCEDED BY PHILIPPINE HEMP.

William P. Saunders, manager of the American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico, is on a visit to this country.

Here are the facts about Mexico as Mr. Saunders presents them:

Six months ago Mexico had only one-fourth of the railroad equipment she possessed in 1910, while the business between the United States and Mexico meanwhile had doubled. The United States has 80 per cent of the foreign business of Mexico.

To promote transportation everybody who could do so began buying equipment. Some of the buyers were oil companies, some were mining companies, some were freight-forwarding concerns. Some of these concerns always owned equipment, just as do various corporations, like those of the packers and the oil companies in the United States. Now they're buying a few new cars. The first order for new locomotives was given to the Baldwin Locomotive Co. Five of the best type engines will be delivered on their own wheels within a few months.

The taming of Villa opened El Paso, which had been a closed door to Mexico for four years. Now all the frontier gates—El Paso, Laredo, Eagle Pass, etc., are wide open.

Mexico is going to be stable.

In the first place, she is going to take care of her creditors. She owes $190,000,000 back interest on her bond issues. The total national debt is less than a billion. That is trifling when the resources of the country are considered. New York bankers, with James Speyer at their head, are working out a financial plan for the republic, and the government will be ready to make provisions to put it in effect if it appeals to Obregon and his advisers as practical and just.

There is reason to believe President-elect Harding is fully informed in this matter. Mr. Speyer went to Marion to discuss Mexico with the senator and was much amused when the newspaper reported him as a possibility for Secretary of the Treasury.

Speyer, it may be added, was one of Diaz's financial advisers. Mr. Saunders says Mexico has plenty of money to buy what she needs. Her danger in this respect and the danger of the United States, too, is that we may saturate her as we and some of the Europeans did the Argentine.

He says while nobody need be told of the tremendous wealth in the oil fields and the mines of Mexico, everybody on this side of the border should be informed of the great possibilities through sugar raising, coffee raising and various other agricultural developments that mean more to the Mexicans than the mines or the wells.

Mexico, he declares has forty times the sugar area of Cuba and yet raised only 110,000 tons last year.

The coffee opportunities are great. Every encouragement should be given to promotion of agriculture.

Strange as it may appear, Mr. Saunders says, Yucatan, which not so long ago was rolling in wealth, now is the only part of Mexico suffering depression.

It's on account of sisal. The cost of raising henequin and delivering it at Progreso, is put at 6½ cents a pound today. There are 400,000 bales of henequin in the warehouses there and no particular market. This accumulation has to be disposed of before the next crop is grown. The International Harvester Co. is willing to pay 4½ cents and no more.

Don't blame the Harvester people. Some years ago the Yucatan, under the leadership of Governor Alvarado and with the assistance of some American bankers, organized what was known as the Reguladora, which was a trust designed to make users of sisal pay just as much as the Reguladora could squeeze out of them.

It is from sisal that binder twine is made. The Reguladora people thought America couldn't gather her wheat crop without sisal.

But America drew on the Philippines for hemp and made binder twine out of it, and Governor Alvarado and the scheming American bankers and the henequin farmers got an awful jolt, especially when, added to the American trouble, they lost the European market by reason of the war.

Ordinarily America takes 400,000 bales and Europe 300,000 bales of sisal.

It probably will be well into 1922 before Yucatan sees daylight. She has been taught a lesson. It is likely to be a long time before she again tries to pull the tail feathers out of the American eagle.

Mexico needs to raise cattle. She has suffered terribly on the range. Before the revolution she had 15,000,000 head of bees. Nobody knows how many she has now, but probably fewer than 1,000,000.

She needs machinery. She needs no end of things as to variety. Americans are scattered all over the republic in factories, mines, timber grants, oil properties, sugar plantations, etc. Many of these stuck to the job all through the long, hard period of revolution. Not only that, but the Americans in Mexico during the world war "did their bit." They contributed heavily to the Red Cross and Liberty Loans. They sent their sons to the war. They fought German propaganda in Mexico to a finish and they organized the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico, which makes it possible for American manufacturers and distributors to enter the Mexican field now on the very best terms.

Mexico City is and will remain the great distributing center for the nation.

Before the revolution there were 28,000 Americans in Mexico. During the revolution the number dwindled to 6000. Now there are 14,000.

Of English there are 3500 in the republic. Of French there are 3500 also. Of Spaniards there are approximately that number, and also that number Germans.

The combined European population of Mexico just about equals the number of Americans.

Of Japanese there are 3300.

Mr. Saunders is a most discreet gentleman and careful in his speech, but he gave the distinct impression that the Americans with oil interests in Mexico are fully able to care for themselves and, despite much "hollering," haven't been hurt. In fact, American interests control 83 per cent of the oil fields of Mexico.

The oil area of the republic is being widened more and more, he said, and there seems to be no limit to the amount of fuel that can be drawn from the monster reservoir.

Talk about your bulls! That man Saunders is a bull on Mexico, if there ever was one.

NEW HOLD-UP SIGNAL FLASHES "HELP" OUTSIDE STORE

Interior of Broadway, N. Y., jewelry store (above), showing clerk holding heel on electric button, and the result—policeman grabbing the "stick-up" man. Below is shown exterior of store and sign "Repairing," which fades and flashes, "Help, help, police!" when button's pressed.

New York merchants, faced with the task of helping to protect themselves from visits of gunmen, have perfected many novel devices to aid them if held up. One of the novel schemes is shown above. When confronted by a gunman the clerk moves his heel back to a nearby button. Pressure on this lights a red danger signal in front of his store and attracts the attention of police and courageous pedestrians.

BEAUTY CHATS

On Board Steamer.

It always amuses me that there are so many women who quite cheerfully abuse their health and looks while they are at home, but who expect to make it all up, and more during the brief period of enforced idleness on a voyage. They seem to feel that they are going to "suffer a sea-change" which will do them everlasting good. And it amazes me that they come so close to realizing their ambition in a voyage from seven to ten days.

Those who are thin feel that the sea air will so stimulate their appetites that they will be able to eat enormously and grow fatter; those who never walk at home methodically tramp the deck for hours to get exercise; those who stay out late at nights and never get the fresh air, sleep all day in deck chairs and retire promptly after dinner refusing all invitations to "play just one rubber of bridge;" those who are fat of course expect to reduce.

Indeed, I do not know of any one on board who is not visibly improving herself in one way or another, except the seafaring passengers who want nothing except a nice little island in the middle of the ocean to get off on, and the missionary who shares my cabin and whose mind is concerned with far more serious things than face powders and reduction diets.

For those who do want to reduce it is a consolation to know that seasickness will help, because some of them have eaten very little except oranges from the first day out. By the time we land they have to take a three-inch tuck in their waistbands. Whether or not that will console them for seven days of misery, is a thing I am not prepared to say. I am morally certain that every seafaring passenger now on board is going to go to a hotel the moment we strike New York and regale herself on roast pork, French fried potatoes and ice cream and French pastry.

If she does, of course she will have to let out that three-inch tuck I have just put in her skirt for it is very much a matter of what we eat that determines whether we are to be fat or thin.

A CLEAN SKIN
A great many women have very beautiful complexions, except for the fact that the pores are a little coarse. Often the pores will be fine and clear except around the nose. But a bad nostril will of course spoil an otherwise nice looking face. For these women, as well as for those who have really bad skins, I recommend my blackhead cleansing powder. First I will tell how to make it, then how to use it. The formula is as follows:

Wheat or cornstarch, 2 ounces.
Powdered borax, 1 ounce.
Almond meal, 2 ounces.

These three powders are mixed together thoroughly and kept, preferably in a wide-mouthed jar or box. Cloths wrung from hot water are held for a few minutes over the face, just long enough to open the pores; then the tips of the fingers are dipped into the powder and some of it is sprinkled over the wash cloth. In any case, a quantity of it is rubbed into the skin which absorbs it readily. Then it is rinsed out thoroughly with hot water.

As a general thing it is better to follow this by rubbing the skin with cold cream, for this powder is necessarily very drying and, a sensitive skin would become chapped. But in the case of an oily skin, cream is not necessary. The treatment should be finished, if possible by massaging the face with ice.

This powder will clear the pores of all waste matter (not necessarily dirt) which distends them and gives the skin, a coarse appearance. The powder itself is astringent and will draw up the pores. Ice is always excellent for finishing. I have seen this simple powder work wonders on the worst complexion.

A Grateful Friend—It's practically impossible to make wide fat hands into narrow slender ones. Of course if you are too fat, your hands will reduce as your body does. Often this makes an enormous change in the shape of the fingers.

Miss Marie D.—Use quite a bit of oil on the scalp if the hair is dry and brittle, particularly before you shampoo. Send me a letter with a self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed for directions for an excellent hair tonic.

Mickey—I should say that the propriety of your speaking first to the boy, or the boy speaking first would depend upon whether you already know him or not. Yes, eating less of everything will reduce you—or eating only the foods which do not produce so much fat. I can send you a list of these if you send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Terribly Worried—You have evidently let yourself get into a bad condition from overeating, or eating the wrong sort of foods. Diet, exercise, drink a lot of water, eat yeast cakes to purify the blood.

SUNDAY WORK NETS FINE.

Boston, Jan. 7.—For carving a statue on Sunday Lee Hoschl, a sculptor of the Roxbury district, was fined $10 in the Municipal Court, Toschl, who appealed, was charged with having performed "unnecessary work" on the Lord's Day.

FAVORS DRASTIC SENTENCE

St. Paul, Jan. 7.—Reinstatement of capital punishment in Minnesota for first degree murder is sought in a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative Frank Nimocks, of Minneapolis.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

When the first convention of women voters ever held in this country met in San Francisco in 1915 it designated a slender, brown-haired woman to carry a monster suffrage petition across the country to Washington.

When the first convention of women voters since the victory of national suffrage is held at Washington next month the same little woman will represent the millions of enfranchised women in presenting to the capitol the first suffrage memorial statue. Her name is Sara Bard Field, and in spite of a frail constitution, the cares of a family and the carrying on of her own profession of writing, she has managed to accomplish suffrage agitation in most of the western cities where she is known as one of the most persuasive orators on the western coast. She will make it is predicted, a thrilling ceremony of the presentation of the suffrage memorial statue to the capitol, the first national recognition of the great work done by those three great women, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott and Susan B. Anthony.

Mrs. Field, like Miss Anthony, Mrs. Mott and their successor, Alice Paul, comes of the Quaker stock. Her family lived in Detroit where the father was a successful business man. Sara herself lived there until the age of eighteen, when, to the great joy of her deeply religious father, she married a young foreign missionary, who took her to Burma. There her first child was born, and there the young mother suffered so from the climate that she had to be brought home. After they had settled in Portland, Ore., such were the family finances that Mrs. Field found it necessary to earn money, herself and she began to write.

Probably writing came naturally to her, for she is a cousin of the poet, Eugene Field, and other members of her family have literary tendencies.

Sara Bard Field.

At any rate, she has since done work, usually in form of imaginative and poetic essays, which has attracted wide attention. Her first assignment, however, was a newspaper job, she was sent to cover the McNamara case in San Francisco, when that was filling the papers.

FORD IS IN LEAD.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Senate committee's recount of votes in the Michigan senatorial contest between Senator Truman H. Newberry and Henry Ford, showed a net gain of 272 votes for Mr. Ford over Senator Newberry, it was announced today.

ABANDONMENT OF SITE OF OSBORN WILL BE DISCUSSED AT MEET

Abandonment of the present site of the village of Osborn, in the Miami Conservancy District will probably be considered at a meeting of conservancy directors and a committee from Osborn Saturday.

Although the conservancy holds options on nearly all the land in Osborn, Ezra M. Kuhns, secretary of the board of directors, said no efforts were now being made to enforce them. Enforcement of these options will not take place until the Huffman dam is nearly completed and residents will be given six months notice before being required to give up their homes.

The Osborn Removal Company is continuing active plans to start the removal of houses and buildings to the new site of the village in the spring. Officials of the company say when the removal is completed the village will be the prettiest in the county. The site is being laid out along modern ideas, and residents are planning their new homes with precision. Houses being moved will be painted before and after moving it is said.

SPORTSMEN TO HOLD BANQUET JANUARY 17

The place of the annual meeting and banquet of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association has been changed, according to the announcement of Secretary R. H. Kingsbury.

The meeting and banquet was originally scheduled to be held at the Elks' Club, but has been changed to the Knights of Pythias Hall at Detroit and Second streets, where the affair was staged last year.

The time Monday, Jan. 17, has not been changed and there will be no other change in the plans. Members of the Association and sportsmen of the county who would like to become members are invited to be present. There will be motion pictures from the state department of fish and game, and the subscription price of $1 will cover both the banquet and the yearly dues.

BLOOD KILLS DISEASE GERMS

Pure, Healthy Blood Destroys Germs, Removes the Waste Tissues and Rebuilds Bone and Muscle

If Your Blood is Weak, Don't Delay

Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the Red Blood Builder

In your body are two gallons (more or less) of blood, which is constantly at work keeping your system free of germs, removing the waste tissues, and building up new strength in bone and muscle.

This blood must be healthy or your resistance to disease and fatigue will be lowered, you will lose weight, and both body and mind will have less vigor.

For building up blood weakened by overwork, illness or other causes, Gude's Pepto-Mangan, for years prescribed by physicians, is now generally known as a prompt and harmless tonic.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan soon produces marked beneficial results. The tired, worn-out, run-down feeling disappears. And in its stead a vigorous wholesomeness and happiness proves that the blood has been supplied with the sorely needed richness to supply the entire system with renewed strength.

When you buy Pepto-Mangan at your druggists be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. You can get it in either liquid or tablet form. If the name "Gude's" is not to the package it is not Pepto-Mangan.—Advt.

Small children suffer from colds. SURVEY OF LIBRARY SHOWS TASTES OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Realizing that one of the largest of the broadening influences, the encouragement of interest in timely events and topics and interest in the affairs of every phase of life may be gained from reading books of recognized wholesome authors, the teachers in the Xenia City Schools, have, for the past four years prepared lists of books, for home reading, for the pupils ranging from the third to the twelfth grade. The instructors have prepared the lists of books that include every type of literature from fairy stories to choice fiction. Every pupil is requested to read 10 books during the school term.

The local librarians in studying the choice of books of the different patrons of the Greene County Library find that the school lad or lassies of the ages between 8 and 12 are partial to the nursery fiction, "the bold knight and lady fair and the dragon type" of reading material.

Next comes the school boy of from 12 to 16, who literally dotes on adventure. The cowboy and Indian who portray the characters of his favorite book are the idols of his imagination. Joseph Allsheller's "Riflemen of the Ohio," "Forest Runners," "Texan Scouts" are particular favorites at this age.

The fiction age is noticeable by the large interest of girls in the works of Gene Stratton Porter: "The Girl of the Limberlost," although introduced to the reading public several years ago, is still in high favor and each book shelf in the true American home contains it together with "Freckles," "The Harvester," and "Laddie." The Jack London stories of the sea, and other adventures that are especially appealing to the imagination of the boy, have found a place in each memory that recalls this age.

Harold Bell Wright is an author that is equally accepted by girls as well as boys, according to local librarians.

The following is a list of books, and authors with which the local instructors are encouraging the acquaintance of the younger generation:

"Trench Mates in France," by Zerbe; "Huckleberry Finn," and "Tom Sawyer," by Twain; "Penrod and Sam," and "Seventeen," by Tar-kington; "The Wizard of Oz," by Baum; "Lover Mary," and "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," by Alice Hegan Rice; "Private Pest," "Over the Top," by Empey; "Polly Anna," by Eleanor Gates Porter; "Peegau," by Hoyt; "The Co-Ed Series" by Lee; "The Sub-Deb Stories," by Rinehart; "Beautiful Joe," by Saunders and "Black Beauty," by Sewell.

NINE NEAR DEATH AS RESULT OF POISON

Kane, Pa., Jan. 6.—Nine of eleven persons in the home of Edward Grow, on a farm near here, are close to death today as a result of eating apples covered with "rough on rats." The poison had been placed about the cellar. Rats running through the mixture carried the poison to the fruit.

Those ill include Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grow, their five children and two visitors. An apple was pared for the youngest child and she was not poisoned. Another child ate a very small apple and was unaffected. The nine persons were taken ill within an hour.

Fordson

TRADE MARK

MORE and more every day the demand for the Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing, discing, seeding, mowing, reaping and threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood; feed; grinding feed; churning; washing; furnishing water in the house; making electric light possible in the house and around the barns; so that, as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on all down along the line of the numerous calls that constantly face the farmer the Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery."

This is the Age of Machinery, the day when man plans the day's work, or the year's work, and then turns it over to the Tractor to execute. Get the book, "The Fordson at Work," because it is free. If you cannot call for it, write and we will mail it to you. The Tractor is not only a necessity to every farmer but is an established utility along a great many commercial lines. Our allotment is limited to so many each month. Let's have your order now.

TWO PAY PENALTY IN DEATH CHAIR

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Execution of two Cleveland wife murderers took place at the penitentiary early this morning.

Joseph Dell, 28, Hungarian was strapped in the electric chair shortly after midnight where he met death without apparent emotion. Robert O'Neill, 28, colored, broke down. While being fastened in the chair he cried and prayed. He was audibly praying when the electric current was turned on.

Dell, about a year ago, fatally shot his wife, because he claimed, her parents refused to let her live with him. O'Neill believing his wife unfaithful, cut her throat with a razor.

Both men were sentenced on the same day at Cleveland, Aug. 7. O'Neill was received at the penitentiary on Sept. 21 and Dell on Sept. 7.

WOULD FORBID MOVIES TO ALL UNDER 16 YEARS

Dayton, O., Jan. 7.—The Dayton Board of Education has resolved to ask the city for a regulation forbidding 16 year olds and under to attend movies. Switzer voiced a protest because a subtitle in a picture carried "d."

STRANDED VIOLINIST PLAYS FOR R. R. FARE

Boston, Jan. 6.—Arriving here on the steamer Canopic with only $5 in his pocket, Frank Hunerth formerly violinist at the Imperial Opera House, Berlin, earned enough money with his violin in downtown restaurants to pay his fare to Detroit.

Hunerth would have been barred from landing here as the subject of a hostile nation but for the fact that he held an Italian passport. He has a brother in the Western city.

Unable to reach there without funds he took his violin under his arm, visited several restaurants where he was allowed to play and in three hours collected $35.

STEPS ARE TAKEN TO KEEP TOBACCO CROP ON MARKET

Bankers and Warehouse Men Meet in Lexington.

Maysville, Ky., Jan. 7.—Bankers and warehousemen from the Mason county district are in Lexington today attending a convention of representatives of all parts of the burley district at which it is expected that steps be taken to keep the 1920 crop from the market.

Precinct meetings throughout the county yesterday were largely attended and farmers growing tobacco were almost unanimously of the opinion that such action should be taken. Tobacco growers assert that the big concern is selling the crop for 75 cents to $1.50 a pound retail but are offering about one half at the warehouses for the same grades as they paid last year. They say that this is far below the cost of production.

PROBE SHOOTING AT STATE HOUSE

Columbus, Jan. 7.—A Board of Inquiry named by the State Adjutant General's Department was at work last night investigating a shooting said to have been accidental, which took place in the State-house rotunda late yesterday afternoon, where a detail of National guardsmen was on duty guarding the State Treasury.

Private Wayne Shepherd was shot through the left arm by a 45-caliber automatic revolver, said to have been in the hands of John Reynolds, a fellow trooper.

The soldiers have been on duty at the State Treasurer's office for weeks while the old vaults of the treasury office are being replaced by new ones.

The injured soldier was taken to a Columbus hospital but later was allowed to go to his home. His injury is not serious it was said.

SAY MENTALITY OF ACCUSED MAN NOT NORMAL ANY TIME

Bridgeport Conn., Jan. 7.—Elwood B. Wade on trial charged with the murder of George E. Not, was a dull backward pupil, according to testimony offered by two of his former instructors. When 12 years old he sat in a class with children six and seven years old, Mrs. Lucy Stebbins, now a dental hygienist, but formerly a school teacher, declared.

Wade's young wife, his father, mother and a number of boyhood friends also testified as to his subnormal mentality. "I couldn't even teach him to say simple childhood prayers," the mother testified on cross examination by State's Attorney Homer S. Cummings. "He's always a good boy and kind to me, but he never was inclined to study."

Mrs. Mary Wade, the accused man's wife, told of her courtship with young Wade, then 16 years old. She was 17 years old at the time. According to the story of Wade's mother had to read the love letters sent to him by his fiancée.

"We used to go for long carriage rides," Mrs. Wade Jr. said. "And what did you talk about?" inquired Mr. Cummings.

"A horse," replied Mrs. Wade. "Yes

we generally spoke of a horse; Elwood was very fond of them."

"Do you mean to say that during the entire time of your courtship you spoke only of a horse?" asked Mr. Cummings.

"Oh, no; we spoke of several horses," replied the witness.

Judge Hinman ordered an early adjournment of Court this afternoon in order that insanity experts who will testify today, might be prepared.

SIEZE BANK ROBBER AFTER LONG SEARCH

New York, Jan. 7.—Harry L. Bitzberger alleged Milltown, N. J., bank robber, who sawed his way out of New York's West side prison Monday, was brought back last night from Providence, R. I., where he was captured while embracing his wife.

Mrs. Bitzberger, who had been trailed by detectives from Boston to the Rhode Island City, accompanied her husband to police headquarters.

According to detectives who caught Bitzberger, he intended originally to meet his wife at Boston, but noticing men watching him, he decided to meet her in Providence. He knew the car seat Mrs. Bitzberger was in, and just before the train pulled out of the Providence Union Station signaled her and she alighted.

The detectives waited until Bitzberger kissed his wife and then with drawn revolver one of them held him at bay and another slipped handcuffs on his wrists.

REQUESTED RECIPES
French Cream Almonds—Place in a bowl two tablespoons of melted butter, one-half cup of water and one teaspoon of vanilla. Sufficient sugar to form a real stiff dough. Knead well to blend and then take a piece the size of a large almond and use it to cover the almonds. Then roll in powdered sugar and lay on greased paper for twelve hours to dry.

French Nut Creams—One-half cup of shelled walnuts, one-half cup of candied citron.

Put this through the food chopper and use the fine knife. Add one and a half cups of fondant prepared as for French cream almonds and then work together and blend well. Line a shallow box with wax paper and then fill in this mixture. Tap down firmly and then lay aside for twelve hours. Then with a sharp knife cut in blocks the size of a caramel and wrap in wax paper.

The fondant cream may be shaped round and then flavored with wintergreen and colored a delicate pink with vegetable coloring or formed into cones and flavored with cinnamon or nutmeg extract and then dipped in chocolate.

FEWER LAWS ADVOCATED.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 7.—In his inaugural address Governor Albert C. Brown favored economy, adding that to supply funds for the bare needs of government would prove no easy task during the coming year. He advocated fewer laws and repeal of unnecessary statutes.

Pieces of this fondant may be taken the size of a walnut and then shaped round, then press half of an English walnut on each side. Pecan nuts may be used in the same manner.

This fondant is delicious when used to fill stoned prunes and dates. Some fondant may also be used between the two halves of dried apricots.

To prepare the cooked fondant: Use a clean sauce pan and place in it two and one-half cups of granulated sugar, one-half cup of boiling water and five tablespoons of white corn syrup.

Stir to dissolve the sugar and then bring to a boil and cook the mixture until it forms a thick hair when tested from the tines of a fork or until 245 degrees Fahrenheit is reached on the candy thermometer.

Almond pie—One-half cup of blanched almonds, one-half cup of powdered macaroons, one-half cup of powdered sugar, one-half cup of orange juice, two eggs, two tablespoons of melted butter, dash of cinnamon.

FOR MEATLESS DAYS

Fish Balls—One cup salt fish picked fine or cut with scissors, one pint potatoes, one egg, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, salt if needed, one teaspoon butter.

Wash fish and free it from bones. Pare potatoes and cut them in quarters. Put fish and potatoes in sauce pan, cover with boiling water and boil twenty-five minutes, or till potatoes are soft. Drain off water and mash and beat fish and potatoes until they are light. Add butter and pepper, and when slightly cooled, the egg well beaten. Shape and fry in a basket in smoking hot lard one minute. Drain on brown paper. Use high flame.

The Woman He Married

BY JANE PHELPS

Chapter 58. Further Success.

That night Junior had a bad attack of the croup. For the first time I had misgivings. Suppose we should lose that legacy and be in debt—as we still were—and either Junior or Dick be really ill? But I soon dismissed the thought. Dick knew the game, knew what he was about. He wouldn't—I almost thought he couldn't lose.

I. C. C. made us $500 in little over a week, I was intoxicated with our success, yet I now know Dick was nearly as affected as was I. The daily papers no longer held any interest for me save the financial pages, which I devoured with avidity. I ate talked, dreamed success, money and of course, clothes. I had no intention of saving—I wanted money for what it would buy, for the show, I could make with it, not for the money itself.

So we built and rebuilt the house we imagined would be better than any architect could plan, while we waited for another safe bit of information that we could use to swell Nan Hardys account. The fever for speculating for getting money easily, had now gotten into my blood, and already I saw in the near future possessed of unlimited wealth. Mildred Stowell did no more than I soon could do, I thought gleefully. I would entertain dress, go, have motor cars etc.

Dick had become as interested as I could wish in all my plans, but about the house in the country he was "dippy," so I told him. He could scarcely wait until the dinner things were cleared away before he commenced work. To me his drawings as well as his ideas seemed wonderful. I think that the planning of the house was a sort of safety valve for his nervousness—a nervousness he never had before shown, but which I never dreamed of laying to his attempt to satisfy my greed for money.

Now, when we played cards he was always the one to suggest raising the limit, instead of objecting when others proposed it, as he used to do when we played for the sport of the game and only risked infinitesimal sums. He seemed to have suddenly developed into a gambler—so I told him laughingly.

"It was always in my blood, Nan, I have had to hold tight always in games of chance or I would have bet more than I could afford."

Dick had not changed all at once. It had been so gradual I had scarcely noticed it.

"Aren't you getting pretty extravagant Nan?" he asked me one day. I had made several purchases, and to my chagrin they had been delivered after he reached home.

"I don't think so! We have the money to pay if we wish. If we use it to increase our income, why the tradesmen will have to wait." I might have added they were used to waiting for me.

"Don't get in too deep, that's all." "Don't worry. I will be careful." I was pretty heavily in debt, but if my conscience ever pricked me the thought of the money we had made, the ease with which we could make more, disposed me to make light of its warnings.

Clara and Jim Watson came up to spend the evening. We had not seen Jim in some time, he had been away on business. After greetings had been exchanged he asked:

"How's the house coming on, Dick?" Our friends were inclined to rag Dick about his plans for a home. "Bully, on paper!" Dick replied. "If we had a lot I'd start building very soon."

"I'd hate to have you and Nan leave here," Clara said, as we went into the kitchen to make a rarebit.

"Why don't you build too—buy the lot next to us?" Dick inquired, just as though we had already bought our site. "I'll help you plan the house Jim, so you could save the expense of an architect." He had the supreme egotism of the amateur house builder.

"Can't," Jim returned. "Only wish I could. But it takes every cent—I can make to live here."

"If you could manage the lot, perhaps I could put you wise how to make a little on the side. But mum's the word."

I was terribly surprised to hear Dick say a thing like that. He had warned me so many times to say nothing to anyone, even to Clara and Jim, of our little speculations.

"I should surely appreciate it, but if it took capital I couldn't take the advantage. Clara squeezes the pay envelope dry."

"That's right, blame the woman!" Clara rejoined, but with a laugh. Tomorrow—A terrible Experience.

D. T. & I. RAILROAD ASKS FOR DAMAGES

For alleged damages to the pilot of one of its engines, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad, asks for judgment of $30 in the Clark county courts against Abraham Friedman, in answer and cross petition to the petition for damages filed by Friedman, whose auto truck was struck by a train.

The railroad company charges that William Friedman, driver of the truck was responsible for the collision with the train, that Friedman approached the crossing on the Clifton pike, near South Charleston at a high rate of speed, that he steered the truck up the tracks toward the train and then jumped for safety, leaving the machine run.

WOULD SAVE FUNSTON.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The House Military Affairs Committee reported out a resolution by Representative James G. Strong, Kansas, Republican, requesting the War Department not to wreck Camp Funston, Kansas. In urging consideration by the committee, Mr. Strong said troops already had been ordered elsewhere and that the government was preparing to dismantle the camp. It was stated the committee voted unanimously and that its action would be transmitted at once to Secretary Newton D. Baker.

Illicit Whiskey Business
One of the Biggest In America.

COUNTRY NOT DRY

Kramer Says It Will Take
Generations To Eliminate
Booze.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Facing a condition of affairs in which the illicit whiskey business is shown to be the biggest business in America both from point of capital invested and the number of men engaged in it, prohibition officials frankly admitted today that the country is not dry and it won't be dry for at least a generation and that the only hope of making it dry now lies in a crystallization of public sentiment behind existing law. The enforcement people have gone just about as far as they can go. Congress is cutting down their appropriations along with the general slashing and even a curtailment of the present forces may be necessary. Meanwhile millions of dollars continue to be turned over in the biggest unorganized business and thousands of men continue to engage in it. Prohibition officials, among them John F. Kramer, the national prohibition commissioner, see one hope—the crystallization of public sentiment in favor of law observance and enforcement.

Spent Changing.
The crystallization, believe, is coming. The point out that in several large cities there have been recently appeared in the newspapers page advertisements paid for by "non drays" urging respect for law.

A condition of affairs in which even officials who are sworn to enforce the law now frankly disregard it will not be permitted to continue, they believe. "The United States is not dry and I will be dead and gone before it will be dry," said Kramer today in the frankest explanation of existing conditions that he has yet attempted.

"Liquor like the poor, I believe, we will always have with us. A prohibition law of itself will not make this country dry in anything except theory. Public sentiment must be behind it to make it effective. We are doing all we can now and hoping for the best."

"I believe that sentiment is crystallizing. I believe that this nation is dry forever, in that the prohibition law never will be erased from the statute books. Neither do I think there is a possibility of light wines and beer amendment."

BELIEVE MAIL SHIP AND CREW OF SEVEN MEET SUDDEN END

Vessel Missing Since December 15, Given Up
As Lost.

Washington, Jan. 7.—At least seven lives and possibly more are believed to have been lost with the U. S. Alaska mail boat Pultizer, missing since Dec. 15. Both navy department and coast guard have been asked to look for her.

The Pultizer plies between Seward and Unalaska, a distance of 200 miles and was last seen at Uyak, on Kodiak Island, as she was entering the Straits of Shelikof.

A telegram from Governor Riggs of Alaska to Secretary of the Interior Paine asserts that the straits of water along the Alaska coast and it is feared that the Pultizer met with a mishap there.

The mail boat was due at Unalaska, Dec. 18, but on Jan. 5, nothing had been heard from her. Moreover, boats that attempted to navigate the straits en route from Uyak report that they saw no trace of the Pultizer.

The crew of the Pultizer numbered seven and it is possible that she had a few passengers aboard.

The survivors, if there are any, Governor Riggs believes, may have landed on the shore of the straits, where several Indian villagers are to be found. In such an event it would be considerable time before they could communicate with civilization.

BLACK HAND HELD GUILTY OF CRIME

Youngstown, Jan. 7.—With throat cut from ear to ear, an eye gouged out and 35 stiletto wounds in his body, an unidentified Italian aged about 28, was found brutally murdered in a clump of bushes in a ravine here this morning.

Police hope to establish identity from the name of a tailor, Nicola Zinni, 14290 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, found on the dead man's clothing, and from a photograph upon which was inscribed the name "James Boylan." An old scar on his chin may also lead to identification. He is 5 feet, 3 inches tall and smooth faced. This is the second black hand murder to occur here this week.

U. S. OFFICER WHO DEFIED GERMAN NAVAL OFFICIALS

Commander Theodore C. Ellyson, U. S. N., former commander of the U. S. destroyer Brooks, who defied the German naval authorities who gave him thirty minutes to move the American destroyer from Kiel harbor. He recently arrived in New York after being ordered home and relieved of his command. The Kiel Harbor incident took place September 20 last. Commander Ellyson had been ordered to Kiel and there await the arrival of his superior officer, Vice-Admiral Huse. When the German commander boarded her and ordered Commander Brooks to take the Brooks out of the harbor in thirty minutes or be fired upon. Ellyson refused, saying he had been ordered to stay there. He stayed there for twenty-four hours and was not fired at. He is thirty-five years old and has been in the navy for fifteen years.

WORK OF HOOVER IS DEBATED IN SENATE

Washington, Jan. 7.—Herbert Hoover's administration of food relief enterprises in Europe was criticized and praised in the senate during an hour of debate resulting from recent charges of Senator Reed Democrat, Missouri, that Mr. Hoover had used a part of America's relief appropriations for maintenance of the Polish army.

MYSTERIOUS TRAIN ROBBERY CONFRONTS ROAD DETECTIVES

Mail Cars Looted As Train
Is Enroute To Philadelphia.

New York, Jan. 7.—A mysterious train robbery in which a number of U. S. mail bags were rifled, on train No. 203, bound from New York to Philadelphia, last night, was reported to the Pennsylvania railroad by the station master of Broad street station, Philadelphia, today. The mail bags were rifled and their contents stolen. No estimate is yet available of the value of the stolen goods, but it is believed that registered mail containing checks and money orders was included in the loot.

The Philadelphia station master reported at 4 o'clock this morning that when the mail clerk tried to unlock each end of car No. 6650 of train No. 203, upon its arrival in Philadelphia he found the doors had been opened and the mail bags piled against the roof. Upon opening the front end of the car he found the seals of the bags were broken and letters and packages lay scattering on the floor. He could not say whether any mail bags were missing.

The conductor of the train asserted he knew nothing of the robbery until he was notified of it by the Broad street station master.

COOLIDGE IS AGAIN JUST PLAIN CITIZEN AS OFFICE LEFT

Boston, Jan. 7.—Calvin Coolidge was a plain citizen last night for the first time in years. As such he went to the family fireside at Northampton for a husband's and father's rest from the affairs of state before going to the national capital in March as vice president.

The transition from governor to ordinary citizen was accomplished simply. In an informal proceeding that had much of ceremonial to it notwithstanding its simplicity, the retiring governor handed to Channing H. Cox, his successor, the ponderous key of the executive chamber, the Butler Bible, the arrowwood and flint that signify the duty of keeping faith with the state's vanishing Indian charges.

Then he took his hat and without official escort left the executive chambers by a side door, while in the main entry the inaugural procession of Governor Cox began to form.

BRITAIN BLOCKS FRANCE'S PLAN FOR 'NEW PEACE'

Would Make Conference Of
Allied Premiers "Second Versailles."

WANT TREATY CHANGE

England Opposed To Any
Plans Except German
Disarmament.

Britain, Jan. 7.—Great Britain is blocking France's attempt to make the conference of the allied premiers virtually a "second peace conference" for re-convening and redrafting a multitude of European questions arising from the war.

When the premiers convene in Paris on Jan. 19, France wants to go into details on a great variety of problems affecting many nations. The French attitude is that many of the old decisions should be annulled and new agreements reached in the light of developments during the past six or eight months.

The attitude of Great Britain was revealed today when the foreign office announced that Great Britain has given official notification to the other allied powers that the conference must be brief, dealing only with German disarmament.

Great Britain will refuse to tackle treaty revision. France evidently had hoped for revision of the treaty of Sevres (the Turkish treaty) to take away some of the benefits Greece had received under the Venizelos administration. However, Britain is opposed to any such action at this time, despite the British opposition to King Constantine.

The question of German reparations cannot be finally decided until the Brussels conference is concluded. A conference on indemnity and other economic questions were scheduled for Jan. 10 in Brussels, but it has been postponed until the 15th. It may be three or four months until the details of German indemnity are finally threshed out.

INAUGURATION WILL BE SELF SUPPORTING DECLARE OFFICIALS

Denial Made Of Lavish
Costs Of Program
March 4.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Rumors of "lavish expenditures" of the public's money for the ceremony attendant upon the inauguration of President-elect Warren G. Harding and Vice-President-elect Calvin Coolidge, were set at rest by a statement from Edward B. McLean, chairman of the Inaugural Committee, who explained that the principal inaugural features are "self-supporting."

"A mistaken idea that the Government is paying the entire expense of the inauguration with the people's money appears to have been spread abroad," said Mr. McLean, "and this should be corrected. The government spends little upon the inauguration of a president appropriating funds for the necessary police protection and the stands at the Capitol for the members of Congress."

The inaugural reception and ball is self-supporting, and the revenue from the souvenirs and seats in the street viewings stands which amounts to very little to each individual, but form a considerable aggregate take care of other expenses.

"The inauguration of President-elect Harding is to be impressive, but not lavish, dignified and not ostentatious and will be strictly in keeping with the ceremonies attendant upon the inaugurations of other Presidents of the United States, with about the same ratio of expenditure of the people's money."

SUES FATHER FOR $600,000 ON LIBEL CHARGE IN WEST

Mrs. Virginia Giroux Sauer, of Los Angeles, who has filed suit against her father, Joseph L. Giroux, millionaire mining man, for $600,000, alleging libel. Her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Giroux, now dead, was divorced by Giroux twenty-seven years ago. Last June in Nevada, the father shot and killed George Giroux, supposed to have been his son. Giroux, it is said, denied the relationship and pleaded self-defense declaring the dead man had tried to blackmail him of $25,000. Mrs. Sauer says her suit is intended to vindicate her mother and dead brother.

CONVICTS SET FIRE TO STATE PRISON OF WEST VIRGINIA

Prisoner Serving Life
Term Escapes During
Trouble.

Moundsville, W. Va., Jan. 7.—A tailor shop in the West Virginia penitentiary here was set on fire last night by several convicts who tried to escape.

The prisoners cut a big belt in the engine room and when it snapped, the lights in all sections of the penitentiary went out. Then they attacked several other prisoners in the engine room.

Warden Terrill announced that one prisoner, a man serving a life term, had escaped during the trouble.

A few minutes after the fire was discovered in the tailor shop, which is inside the prison walls, the lights went out. Armed guards started a round-up of the prisoners, escorting them to their cells, and Warden Terrill reported that there was little trouble experienced in this work.

The Moundsville fire department was summoned and the firemen assisted by guards and a few trustees soon had the blaze under control. The damage to the tailor shop was slight.

The fighting started during a raid by policemen for arms and ammunition. There were heavy seizures including formulae for making explosives.

Republican guards, spread the alarm when the raiding began and civilians rushed up to attack the police.

Denver, Jan. 6.—Special smoking compartments for women in Pullman cars may soon become necessary, according to A. A. Gorsline, local Pullman official, who declares that evidence indicates that many women are smoking in Pullman cars.

Gorsline said that many women were known to lie in their berths and smoke.

ARMY OFFICERS VISIT HARDING; TALK ECONOMY

President-elect Favors Senator Wadsworth as War
Secretary.

REDUCE EXPENSES

Lowering Of Cost Must Be Done Without Danger to Nation.

Marion, O., Jan. 7.—It is Senator Harding's intention that the enlisted force of the United States army be cut to 175,000 men immediately and further reduced to 150,000 within the next fiscal year, according to Rep. Julius Kahn, who conferred with the president-elect today.

"Senator Harding knows that the millennium has not come," said Mr. Kahn. "He realizes that this nation has to move so as to defend the right of its citizens, but he is determined that waste must stop at once. He wants a sensible military establishment."

Marion, O., Jan. 7.—Ruffle of drums and flourish of trumpets were discarded today in favor of earnest discussion when the future commander in chief of the army of the United States considered the efficiency and welfare of the men soon to be under his direction. Senator Harding went exhaustively into the military policy of the country with Rep. Julius Kahn, chairman of the house military affairs committee.

Rep. Kahn, it is understood, placed before the president-elect the plans of the majority in congress for cutting down the expense of the army and outlined the extent to which he thought the enlisted forces could be reduced without danger to national defense.

Senator Harding, it is known, expects that economy can be attained and is insistent that it must be obtained without danger to the nation. In discussing preparedness with officers who saw service in France, he announced that he intended to appoint a secretary of war who would be capable of producing results desired.

Col. Judah Present.

The delegation which consisted of Lieut. Colonel Mobile B. Judah, Colonel, Horatia B. Hackett, Lieut. Colonel Carl Klemm, of Kansas City, and the term of enlistment in the army from three years to one. This policy they said, would turn out into civil life approximately 150,000 trained men a year. They also advised compulsory military training but it is asserted that Senator Harding himself favors a system of voluntary training.

It is understood that the military visitors discussed with Senator Harding the selection of a secretary of war and that the name of Senator James Wadsworth of New York was advanced.

Senator Harding, it is declared, intimated to the veterans that he would be glad to appoint Senator Wadsworth if he could induce the latter to accept. Rep. Kahn, regarded as one of the authorities on military affairs in congress, himself has been prominently mentioned for the post.

Clarence B. Miller, secretary of the Republican national committee also conferred with Senator Harding today.

URGE ABROGATION OF ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY IN PAPER

Tokio, Jan. 6.—Abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance was urged today by the newspaper Asahi in its comment upon the American proposal that the United States, Great Britain and Japan declare a "holiday" in the construction of sea armaments. This newspaper is one of the most influential in Japan.

The newspaper argued that it would be much easier to arrive at an understanding with the United States if the alliance were abolished, adding that England's long term needs Japan. England's post war policy, continued the newspaper, is based upon pro-Americanism and the country apparently resolved to overcome all difficulties to establish an Anglo-Saxon alliance.

America may not reciprocate England's advances, says the newspaper, but Japan should realize the futility of relying upon England for help if she gets into difficulty. The newspaper adds that if England sincerely desire to limit armaments it is essential to eliminate the Anglo-Japanese alliance first in order to allay American suspicion.

CARDINAL IMPROVED

Baltimore, Jan. 7.—The condition of Cardinal Gibbons, who has been ill for nearly four weeks, is reported today to show much improvement. For the first time since he was stricken, it was said he appeared more like himself.

DIVORCE LAW URGED.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Governor Harding, of the Panama Canal Zone asked the House Judiciary Committee to recommend a general divorce law for the canal zone. There now is no divorce law applying to the zone. The said local separations were granted and permitted.

ENGLAND FACES MENACE OF MUCH UNEMPLOYMENT

GENERAL IS SENT TO CUBA TO ACT
IN VOTE TROUBLE

Major-General Enoch Crowder who is en route to Cuba about the Battleship Minnesota to act as President Wilson's envoy, according to reports from Washington. General Crowder was dispatched to Cuba by the President following many appeals from many officials and citizens of Cuba that the United States intervene and supervise elections so that a stable and just government can be established. Conditions there are such, it is said, that there is a probability that the United States will be forced to intervene.

HONOR MEMORY OF ROOSEVELT IN LAYING OF CORNER STONE

First Work Of Monument
Is Viewed By Large
Throng.

New York, Jan. 7.—In the narrow street of his birth the "Great American" lived again yesterday for an hour.

A flag waving in the west wind; voices of children from other countries lifted in song; eyes dimming when the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." And through it all sense of a high hearted presence, beloved of America in years that have passed. Such was the laying of the corner stone to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt to the "Roosevelt House" for the promotion of Americanism.

Several hundred men and women gathered before the new vacant building at 28 East Twentieth street, where once stood the house where Col. Roosevelt was born in 1858, and where he lived until he was 13 years old.

EXPENSES SLASHED IN HALF, REPORT

Washington, Jan. 7.—The cost of running the U. S. Government last year amounted to approximately $5,064,000,000 as against about $11,728,000,000 in 1919. The total expenditures outside of payments on the public debt were revealed in accounts obtained from the daily treasury statements.

Treasury officials said tonight that while ordinary disbursements had not yet come down to the $1,000,000,000 mark set by Secretary Houston in his estimate of revenues expected for future fiscal years, expenditures would continue to fall. Gradual liquidation of war claims and expenses, officials declared explained the drop in expenditures, which they added, would have been greater but for the additional burdens, such as loans and advances to the railroads imposed on the treasury.

Ordinary receipts for 1920 amounted to $6,431,000,000 in round numbers as against $6,772,000,000 for the previous year. Collections of income and profits taxes totalled $3,570,000,000 in the past year, compared with $4,337,000,000 in 1919.

Irish Peace Envoys Gather In London For Conference

Whether Any Message Is Brought From DeValera
Is Not Known.

London, Jan. 7.—There is a big gathering of the Irish peace envoys in London today but whether any message has been brought from Eamon DeValera is not known. Archbishop Clune, who formerly acted as intermediary between Premier Lloyd George and Arthur Griffith, president of the Sinn Fein and Secretary Johnson of the Irish federation of labor, have both arrived here for parleys, according to the Daily Mail.

GRAVE DANGERS TO NATION ARE LOOMING AHEAD

Rumor Has It That Radical Element Plans Revolution.

THREATS ARE MADE

Precautionary Measures
Are Being Taken By Government.

London, Jan. 7.—The menace of unemployment in Great Britain is growing at an alarming rate. More than 700,000 unemployed are registered with the government, but, according to an authentic estimate today the number actually exceed 1,000,000. The great army of unemployed has been increased by 100,000 in the past fortnight.

Precautionary measures are being taken to cope with rioting especially in London where the readers are again threatening to march upon the premier's residence and parliament building.

Among the bolshevik sympathizers there are some who go so far as to claim that the leaders of the unemployed are secretly working out plans for a revolution. They are counting upon support from the British troops. A great part of the army garrisoning England at this time is made up of boys and men who reenlisted because they could not get work after the war.

The unemployed are organized and have efficient leaders.

All of the British government's and other permanent schemes of relief have failed so far. In the meanwhile the councils of the federation of unemployed are tightening their organization. Communists have been making an effort to manipulate the dissatisfaction into channels of revolution and seem to have met with considerable sympathy in some quarters.

Probe Outbreak

A probe of the outbreak at Islington on Monday, when the unemployed attempted to storm the library from which they had been previously ejected revealed that small groups of malcontents had been transported from Acton with trooplike precision.

Action is the headquarters of the organization of unemployed.

Newspapers report that leaders of the unemployed in the east end, the district where the working classes and the poor live, are threatening to swoop down on West End shops, and loot them if the police adopt extreme measures in dealing with unemployment demonstrations. The West End is the seat of the richest and most fashionable stores in London.

The fear that the unemployed could hope for support from a part of the army in the event of a general uprising is still small and fears of such contingency are generally discounted. However even the suggestion of such a thing is significant exposition of the prevailing temper.

Trade relation agreements with soviet Russia seems to have been broken off.

Sir Robert Horne's scheme for financing trade with central Europe seems to have struck a snag.

The slump in the domestic industrial situation is strikingly emphasized by the November railroad returns which show a falling off of 5,000,000 pounds sterling. From every angle the situation grows worse, steadily.

SERIES OF BLASTS INJURE WORKMEN

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 7.—A series of explosions of uncertain origin in the plant of the Indiana General Service company here today resulted in injury to several workmen, two of whom may die. One man, whom rescuers were unable to reach was reported dead in a deep pit.

The Daily Herald is authority for the statement that the Rev. Father O'Flanagan who has been active in peace negotiations held a conference with Premier Lloyd George on Thursday. This report has not yet been confirmed.

Lord French, lord lieutenant of Ireland, is reported to be on his way

PRICES HIT BOTTOM!

DOWN, DOWN TO THE BOTTOM GO PRICES

We want to erase the past—keep business going and workmen at work—above all we want to sweep out every Suit, every O'Coat—in fact our entire stock is marked low for final clean-up.

This is not a sale—it's a sweep out. We're not sacrificing merchandise—we're practically giving it away to get it out of the house.

Instead of gradually whittling down prices, the practice of most stores, we are making one big CHOP—and Final CHOP. Not caring to dilly-dally at reductions, we have decided to give high prices one big wallop.

NEW YORK NOT TO SEE TITULAR BOUT

New York, Jan. 7.—Gotham's chances of landing the titular struggle between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier have been wiped off the slate.

Even the scheduled championship bout between Dempsey and Jess Willard, set for March 17, at Madison Square Garden, is an uncertainty today.

These are the deductions of boxing fans here as a result of the action of the New York state boxing commission which has ruled that $15 is the top figure that may be charged for a championship bout and $10 the limit for ordinary fights.

Tex Rickard, William Brady and Charles B. Cochran, who have signed Dempsey and Carpentier to battle for a purse of $500,000 will not see their way clear to stage the match here under these conditions.

STATE BUDGET CALLS FOR OVER 91 MILLIONS

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Estimates calling for expenditure of $91,803,520 by the state government during the two years beginning on July 1, next, are contained in the state budget which will be presented to the legislature by Governor John F. Harper today for submission to the house finance committee.

This amount is over $36,000,000 greater than the aggregate expenditures by the state government during the two years ending June 30, next. Harper stated that expenditures for the two year period ending next June is estimated to total $55,413,365.

A total of $105,613,622 to be spent during the next two years was asked for by heads of state bureaus and departments.

The tremendous boost is attributed by Commissioner Harper to the new school levy, increased from .055 to 1.8 mills and the new highway levy, raised to .5 from .3 mills.

WAR ON BOOTLEGGERS TO FOLLOW FINING OF THREE MEN

Three fines in the liquor cases that have been stirred up in Greene County by Sheriff Funderburg and Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson, were meted out by Magistrate J. E. Jones, Thursday afternoon.

John Hancock of Fairfield, charged with selling, furnishing and delivering intoxicating liquors entered a plea of guilty before the justice Thursday afternoon and was fined $200 and costs.

Gilbert Shade, who was arrested at Miamisburg and charged with delivering intoxicating liquors, was fined $200 and costs. Clarence Slater, proprietor of a Fairfield pool room, charged with keeping a place where intoxicating liquors are sold and of selling, furnishing and delivering intoxicants changed his plea of not guilty to guilty on the charge of keeping a place and was fined $200 and costs. The other charge against him was dismissed.

The arrest of all three of these men, and of Goldie Rohrer, who is out on $2,000 bond for appearance next Tuesday, was the result of the shooting scrape at Osborn last week when Joseph Abel, Orlo Holden and Charles Chastain, were wounded by Marshal W. A. Schneider, Abel's wounds proving fatal.

The case of William Sidenstricker of Bellbrook, charged with selling, furnishing and delivering intoxicating liquors, which was to have been heard in Magistrate's court Friday morning at 9 o'clock has been postponed until next Thursday at nine o'clock, on motion of Sidenstricker's attorney.

Howard Guy, 28, and Charles Kemp, 48, were arrested at Bellbrook Thursday by the Sheriff and his deputies on their alleged knowledge of the Sidenstricker case. It is said that Guy admitted he had secured liquor from Sidenstricker, and he was released. Kemp, who refused to talk, was held in the county jail.

War on bootleggers has been declared according to Prosecuting Attorney Williamson. Sheriff Funderburg stated Friday morning that with the backing of the people he would rid the county of bootlegging, and the numerous arrests which have taken place, are first steps in the campaign, it is said.

CHRISTMAS DAY IS CELEBRATED BY GREEKS JANUARY 7

Today, Friday, is Christmas. This statement need not arouse in the breast of anyone a sense of the fleeting of time, or the necessity of another shopping attack upon the family pocketbook.

Friday, while being Christmas Day, is only celebrated as such by those who were born in Greece or are of Greek descent. The Christmas celebrated by the Greeks occurs 13 days after the American Christmas Day, December 25.

Special Christmas Day services are held on this day in the Greek Orthodox Churches of the country, and many Greeks living in cities where there is no church, make pilgrimage to the churches in Cincinnati or Indianapolis. No local Greeks are attending the services.

Christmas is celebrated by feasting and parties. Contrary to the American idea, there is no exchange of gifts on Christmas Day, the Greeks following this custom on New Years Day, January 13.

CAN TELL SEVERITY OF WINTER BY FUZZY CATERPILLERS; MILD WEATHER CONTINUES

Is old King Winter going to skid by this year with only the little bluster of real weather that he dished out early in the season?

Frank W. Dodds, president of the Chamber of Commerce, referring to an ancient tradition, lets the "wooly-worms" or caterpillars, decide this question.

While taking no responsibility as to how nearly correct the prophecy is, Mr. Dodds says it is an old tradition that the forthcoming weather can be foretold by a careful examination of these fuzzy little worms. This winter, says Mr. Dodds, the caterpillars are all brown with the exception of a bit of black at both ends of themselves, which according to the "medicine man" is a sign that real winter weather will only exist at the start and at the end of the official winter season.

From present indications, the caterpillar is a better criterion of the weather than the government's paid experts, as spring-time weather has existed here since the first few blusters early in the season. While Mr. Dodds claims no uncanny prophetic powers for the caterpillars, he hopes with the majority that this time at least, they prove correct in their sale of sages.

REMEMBER WHAT WE TOLD YOU LAST JANUARY?

We told you to "buy furniture now," and hundreds did—just look at what they saved. We say it again with a lot of emphasis on the "buy now," as there is no telling when wholesale prices will come down to the prices we have marked all furniture for this sale.

We are always alert to be in advance of the times and to give our patrons every possible advantage in furniture buying.

We give everyone the opportunity to buy our high grade Furniture, Rugs and Stoves at cut prices instead of waiting a year or more for prices to come down.

Our advice, like last January, is to "buy now," as it will mean a big saving to those intending to furnish a single room or a home this year.

THE TRUTH ABOUT MEXICO—YUCATAN'S SISIL SUPERCEDED BY PHILIPPINE HEMP.

William P. Saunders, manager of the American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico, is on a visit to this country.

Here are the facts about Mexico as Mr. Saunders presents them:

Six months ago Mexico had only one-fourth of the railroad equipment she possessed in 1910, while the business between the United States and Mexico meanwhile had doubled. The United States has 80 per cent of the foreign business of Mexico.

To promote transportation everybody who could do so began buying equipment. Some of the buyers were oil companies, some were mining companies, some were freight-forwarding concerns. Some of these concerns always owned equipment, just as do various corporations, like those of the packers and the oil companies in the United States. Now they're buying a few new cars. The first order for new locomotives was given to the Baldwin Locomotive Co. Five of the best type engines will be delivered on their own wheels within a few months.

The taming of Villa opened El Paso, which had been a closed door to Mexico for four years. Now all the frontier gates—El Paso, Laredo, Eagle Pass, etc., are wide open.

Mexico is going to be stable.

In the first place, she is going to take care of her creditors. She owes $190,000,000 back interest on her bond issues. The total national debt is less than a billion. That is trifling when the resources of the country are considered. New York bankers, with James Speyer at their head, are working out a financial plan for the republic, and the government will be ready to make provisions to put it in effect if it appeals to Obregon and his advisers as practical and just.

There is reason to believe President-elect Harding is fully informed in this matter. Mr. Speyer went to Marion to discuss Mexico with the senator and was much amused when the newspaper reported him as a possibility for Secretary of the Treasury.

Speyer, it may be added, was one of Diaz' financial advisers. Mr. Saunders says Mexico has plenty of money to buy what she needs. Her danger in this respect and the danger of the United States, too, is that we may saturate her as we and some of the Europeans did the Argentine.

He says while nobody need to be told of the tremendous wealth in the oil fields and the mines of Mexico, everybody on this side of the border should be informed of the great possibilities through sugar raising, coffee raising and various other agricultural developments that mean more to the Mexicans than the mines or the wells.

Mexico, he declares has forty times the sugar area of Cuba and yet raised only 110,000 tons last year.

The coffee opportunities are great. Every encouragement should be given to promotion of agriculture.

Strange as it may appear, Mr. Saunders says, Yucatan, which not so long ago was rolling in wealth, now is the only part of Mexico suffering depression.

It's on account of sisal. The cost of raising henequin and delivering it at Progreso, is put at 6½ cents a pound today. There are 400,000 bales of henequin in the warehouses there and no particular market. This accumulation has to be disposed of before the next crop is grown. The International Harvester Co. is willing to pay 4½ cents and no more.

Don't blame the Harvester people. Some years ago the Yucatan, under the leadership of Governor Alvarado and with the assistance of some American bankers, organized what was known as the Reguladora, which was a trust designed to make users of sisal pay just as much as the Reguladora could squeeze out of them.

It is from sisal that binder twine is made. The Reguladora people thought America couldn't gather her wheat crop without sisal.

But America drew on the Philippines for hemp and made binder twine out of it, and Governor Alvarado and the scheming American bankers and the henequin farmers got an awful jolt, especially when, added to the American trouble, they lost the European market by reason of the war.

Ordinarily America takes 400,000 bales and Europe 300,000 bales of sisal.

It probably will be well into 1922 before Yucatan sees daylight. She has been taught a lesson. It is likely to be a long time before she again tries to pull the tail feathers out of the American eagle.

Mexico needs to raise cattle. She has suffered terribly on the range. Before the revolution she had 15,000,000 head of beeves. Nobody knows how many she has now, but probably fewer than 1,000,000.

She needs machinery. She needs no end of things as to variety. Americans are scattered all over the republic in factories, mines, timber grants, oil properties, sugar plantations, etc. Many of these stuck to the job all through the long, hard period of revolution. Not only that, but the Americans in Mexico during the world war "did their bit." They contributed heavily to the Red Cross and Liberty Loans. They sent their sons to the war. They fought German propaganda in Mexico to a finish and they organized the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico, which makes it possible for American manufacturers and distributors to enter the Mexican field now on the very best terms.

Mexico City is and will remain the great distributing center for the nation.

Before the revolution there were 28,000 Americans in Mexico. During the revolution the number dwindled to 6000. Now there are 14,000.

Of English there are 3500 in the republic. Of French there are 3500 also. Of Spaniards there are approximately that number, and also that number Germans.

The combined European population of Mexico just about equals the number of Americans.

Of Japanese there are 3300.

Mr. Saunders is a most discreet gentleman and careful in his speech, but he gave the distinct impression that the Americans with oil interests in Mexico are fully able to care for themselves and, despite much "hollering," haven't been hurt. In fact, American interests control 83 per cent of the oil fields of Mexico.

The oil area of the republic is being widened more and more, he said, and there seems to be no limit to the amount of fuel that can be drawn from the monster reservoir.

Talk about your bulls! That man Saunders is a bull on Mexico, if there ever was one.

NEW HOLD-UP SIGNAL FLASHES "HELP" OUTSIDE STORE

New York merchants, faced with the task of helping to protect themselves from visits of gunmen, have perfected many novel devices to aid them if held up. One of the novel schemes is shown above. When confronted by a gunman the clerk moves his heel back to a nearby button. Pressure on this lights a red danger signal in front of his store and attracts the attention of police and courageous pedestrians.

On Board Steamer.

It always amuses me that there are so many women who quite cheerfully abuse their health and looks while they are at home, but who expect to make it all up, and more during the brief period of enforced idleness on a voyage. They seem to feel that they are going to "suffer a sea-change" which will do them everlasting good. And it amazes me that they come so close to realizing their ambition in a voyage from seven to ten days.

Those who are thin feel that the sea air will so stimulate their appetites that they will be able to eat enormously and grow fatter; those who never walk at home methodically tramp the deck for hours to get exercise; those who stay out late at nights and never get the fresh air, sleep all day in deck chairs and retire promptly after dinner refusing all invitations to "play just one rubber of bridge," those who are fat of course expect to reduce.

Indeed, I do not know of any one on board who is not visibly improving herself in one way or another, except the seasick passengers who want nothing except a nice little island in the middle of the ocean to get off on, and the missionary who shares my cabin and whose mind is concerned with far more serious things than face powders and reduction diets.

For those who do want to reduce it is a consolation to know that seasickness will help, because some of them have eaten very little except oranges from the first day out. By the time we land they have to take a three-inch tuck in their waistbands. Whether or not that will console them for seven days of misery, is a thing I am not prepared to say. I am morally certain that every seasick passenger now on board is going to go to a hotel the moment we strike New York and regale herself on roast pork, French fried potatoes and ice cream and French pastry.

If she does, of course she will have to let out that three-inch tuck I have just put in her skirt for it is very much a matter of what we eat that determines whether we are to be fat or thin.

A CLEAN SKIN

A great many women have very beautiful complexions, except for the fact that the pores are a little coarse. Often the pores will be fine and clear except around the nose. But a bad nostril will of course spoil an otherwise nice looking face. For these women, as well as for those who have really bad skins, I recommend my blackhead cleansing powder. First I will tell how to make it, then how to use it. The formula is as follows:

Wheat or cornstarch, 2 ounces. Powdered borax, 1 ounce. Almond meal, 2 ounces.

These three powders are mixed together thoroughly and kept, preferably in a wide-mouthed jar or box. Cloths wrung from hot water are held for a few minutes over the face, just long enough to open the pores; then the tips of the fingers are dipped into the powder or some of it is sprinkled over the wash cloth. In any case, a quantity of it is rubbed into the skin which absorbs it readily. Then it is rinsed out thoroughly with hot water.

As a general thing it is better to follow this by rubbing the skin with cold cream, for this powder is necessarily very drying and, a sensitive skin would become chapped. But in the case of an oily skin, cream is not necessary. The treatment should be finished, if possible by massaging the face with ice.

This powder will clear the pores of all waste matter (not necessarily dirt) which distends them and gives the skin, a coarse appearance. The powder itself is astringent and will draw up the pores. Ice is always excellent for finishing. I have seen this simple powder work wonders on the worst complexion.

A Grateful Friend—It's practically impossible to make wide fat hands into narrow slender ones. Of course if you are too fat, your hands will reduce as your body does. Often this makes an enormous change in the shape of the fingers.

Miss Marie D.—Use quite a bit of oil on the scalp if the hair is dry and brittle, particularly before you shampoo. Send me a letter with a self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed for directions for an excellent hair tonic.

Mickey—I should say that the propriety of your speaking first to the boy, or the boy speaking first would depend upon whether you already know him or not. Yes, eating less of everything will reduce you—or eating only the foods which do not produce so much fat. I can send you a list of these if you send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Terribly Worried.—You have evidently let yourself get into a bad condition from overeating, or eating the wrong sort of foods. Diet, exercise, drink a lot of water, eat yeast cakes to purify the blood.

SUNDAY WORK NETS FINE.

Boston, Jan. 7.—For carving a statue on Sunday Lee Hosch, a sculptor of the Roxbury district, was fined $10 in the Municipal Court. Toschl, who appealed, was charged with having performed "unnecessary work" on the Lord's Day.

FAVORS DRASTIC SENTENCE

St. Paul, Jan. 7.—Reinstatement of capital punishment in Minnesota for first degree murder is sought in a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative Frank Nimocks, of Minneapolis.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

When the first convention of women voters ever held in this country met in San Francisco in 1915 it designated a slender, brown-haired woman to carry a monster suffrage petition across the country to Washington.

When the first convention of women voters since the victory of national suffrage is held at Washington next month the same little woman will represent the millions of enfranchised women in presenting to the capitol the first suffrage memorial statue. Her name is Sara Bard Field, and in spite of a frail constitution, the cares of a family and the carrying on of her own profession of writing, she has managed to accomplish suffrage agitation in most of the western cities where she is known as one of the most persuasive orators on the western coast.

She will make it is predicted, a thrilling ceremony of the presentation of the suffrage memorial statue to the capitol, the first national recognition of the great work done by those three great women, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott and Susan B. Anthony.

Mrs. Field, like Miss Anthony, Mrs. Mott and their successor, Alice Paul, comes of the Quaker stock. Her family lived in Detroit, where the father was a successful business man. Sara herself lived there until the age of eighteen, when, to the great joy of her deeply religious father, she married a young foreign missionary, who took her to Burma. There her first child was born, and there the young mother suffered so from the climate that she had to be brought home. After they had settled in Portland, Ore., such were the family finances that Mrs. Field found it necessary to earn money, herself and she began to write.

Probably writing came naturally to her, for she is a cousin of the poet, Eugene Field, and other members of her family have literary tendencies.

Sara Bard Field.

At any rate, she has since done work, usually in form of imaginative and poetic essays, which has attracted wide attention. Her first assignment, however, was a newspaper job, she was sent to cover the McNamara case in San Francisco, when that was filling the papers.

FORD IS IN LEAD.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Senate committee's recount of votes in the Michigan senatorial contest between Senator Truman H. Newberry and Henry Ford, showed a net gain of 272 votes for Mr. Ford over Senator Newberry, it was announced today.

ABANDONMENT OF SITE OF OSBORN WILL BE DISCUSSED AT MEET

Abandonment of the present site of the village of Osborn, in the Miami Conservancy District will probably be considered at a meeting of conservancy directors and a committee from Osborn Saturday.

Although the conservancy holds options on nearly all the land in Osborn, Ezra M. Kuhns, secretary of the board of directors, said no efforts were now being made to enforce them. Enforcement of these options will not take place until the Huffman dam is nearly completed and residents will be given six months notice before being required to give up their homes.

The Osborn Removal Company is continuing active plans to start the removal of houses and buildings to the new site of the village in the spring. Officials of the company say when the removal is completed the village will be the prettiest in the county. The site is being laid out along modern ideas, and residents are planning their new homes with precision. Houses being moved will be painted before and after moving it is said.

SPORTSMEN TO HOLD BANQUET JANUARY 17

The place of the annual meeting and banquet of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association has been changed, according to the announcement of Secretary R. H. Kingsbury.

The meeting and banquet was originally scheduled to be held at the Elks' Club, but has been changed to the Knights of Pythias Hall at Detroit and Second streets, where the affair was staged last year.

The time Monday, Jan. 17, has not been changed and there will be no other change in the plans. Members of the Association and sportsmen of the county who would like to become members are invited to be present. There will be motion pictures from the state department of fish and game, and the subscription price of $1 will cover both the banquet and the yearly dues.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan soon produces marked beneficial results. The tired, worn-out, run-down feeling disappears. And in its stead a vigorous wholesomeness and happiness proves that the blood has been supplied with the sorely needed richness to supply the entire system with renewed strength.

When you buy Pepto-Mangan at your druggists be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. You can get it in either liquid or tablet form. If the name "Gude's" is not to the package it is not Pepto-Mangan.—Advt.

CENTRAL HIGH WILL PLAY ANTIOCH FIVE

Central High School basketball team will play Antioch Academy at Antioch, Yellow Springs Saturday evening.

This is the announcement made following the cancellation of the game booked with Blanchester High to be played at Blanchester that night.

The quintet will go to Wilmington Friday evening where the locals meet Coach Black's Wilmington high players, and according to the original schedule was to remain in Wilmington Friday night and go to Blanchester Saturday. Instead of this arrangement, the team will return home and play Antioch Academy at Yellow Springs Saturday evening, while the second team will fill the Blanchester engagement.

The Antioch Academy game is expected to be a stiff battle for Coach Conner's charges. The Academy quintet ran up 21 points on Stivers on the latter's floor, and they have the appearances of a strong combination this season. The team hopes to take a number of rooters to Yellow Springs.

SURVEY OF LIBRARY SHOWS TASTES OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Realizing that one of the largest of the broadening influences, the encouragement of interest in timely events and topics and interest in the affairs of every phase of life may be gained from reading books of recognized wholesome authors, the teachers in the Xenia City Schools, have, for the past four years prepared lists of books, for home reading, for the pupils ranging from the third to the twelfth grade. The instructors have prepared the lists of books that include every type of literature from fairy stories to choice fiction. Every pupil is requested to read 10 books during the school term.

The local librarians in studying the choice of books of the different patrons of the Greene County Library find that the school lad or lassies of the ages between 8 and 12 are partial to the nursery fiction, "the hoid knight and lady fair and the dragon type" of reading material.

Next comes the school boy of from 12 to 16, who literally dotes on adventure. The cowboy and Indian who portray the characters of his favorite book are the idols of his imagination. Joseph Allsheller's "Rifleman of the Ohio," "Forest Runners," "Texan Scouts" are particular favorites at this age.

The fiction age is noticeable by the large interest of girls in the works of Gene Stratton Porter: "The Girl of the Limberlost," although introduced to the reading public several years ago, is still in high favor and each book shelf in the true American home contains it together with "Freckles," "The Harvester," and "Laddie." The Jack London stories of the sea, and other adventures that are especially appealing to the imagination of the boy, have found a place in each memory that recalls this age.

Harold Bell Wright is an author that is equally accepted by girls as well as boys, according to local librarians.

The following is a list of books, and authors with which the local instructors are encouraging the acquaintanceship of the younger generation:

"Trench Mates in France," by Zerbe; "Huckleberry Finn," and "Tom Sawyer," by Twain; "Penrod and Sam," and "Seventeen," by Tarkington; "The Wizard of Oz," by Balm; "Lover Mary," and "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," by Alice Hegan Rice; "Private Peet," "Over the Top," by Empey; "Polly Anna," by Eleanor Gates Porter; "Peegun," by Hoyt; "The Co-Ed Series" by Lee; "The Sub-Deb Stories," by Rinehart; "Beautiful Joe," by Saunders and "Black Beauty," by Sewell.

NINE NEAR DEATH AS RESULT OF POISON

Kane, Pa., Jan. 6.—Nine of eleven persons in the home of Edward Grow, on a farm near here, are close to death today as a result of eating apples covered with "rough on rats." The poison had been placed about the cellar. Rats running through the mixture carried the poison to the fruit.

Those ill include Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grow, their five children and two visitors. An apple was pared for the youngest child and she was not poisoned. Another child ate a very small apple and was unaffected. The nine persons were taken ill within an hour.

Fordson

TRADE MARK

MORE and more every day the demand for the Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing, discing, seeding, mowing, reaping and threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood; feed; grinding feed; churning; washing; furnishing water in the house; making electric light possible in the house and around the barns; so that, as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on all down along the line of the numerous calls that constantly face the farmer the Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery."

This is the Age of Machinery, the day when man plans the day's work, or the year's work, and then turns it over to the Tractor to execute. Get the book, "The Fordson at Work," because it is free. If you cannot call for it, write and we will mail it to you. The Tractor is not only a necessity to every farmer but is an established utility along a great many commercial lines. Our allotment is limited to so many each month. Let's have your order now.

HE HAS A FINE HEALTHY COLOR, STEADIER NERVES, AND SLEEPS FINE SINCE TAKING HYPO-COD

Does not complain any more of having pains in chest or stomach

GAINED SEVERAL POUNDS WEIGHT

"My husband suffered from a run-down system and had a very poor appetite. Every morning he would have to spit up a lump that would form in his throat. He had been in that condition for two years," declared Mrs. Bragg, whose address is given below. "He bought Hypo-Cod because a drug clerk recommended it to him so highly and since taking it he has a fine appetite, has gained several pounds in weight, does not complain of the pains in his chest or stomach, has a fine healthy color, his nerves are so much better, does not cough any more, and sleeps just fine at night. My husband says Hypo-Cod has helped him greatly. I recommend Hypo-Cod because it surely has helped him more the church to be out of debt, with much needed improvements made and paid for. Then anniversary sermon was preached by Rev. A. McClintock Howe, of this city, the music being furnished by the choir of Third Baptist Church. All returned after the evening service Sabbath. A pleasant time was had.

NOTHING LEFT BUT MEMORY OF TROUBLE

Mrs. Crawford Says Tanlac Completely Relieved Her of Troubles That Made Life Miserable for 20 Years.

"I just feel like I had been given a new lease on life," said Mrs. Sarah E. Crawford, of Chesapeake, O. "For twenty years I suffered so from stomach trouble and gastritis that life hardly seemed worth living. I never knew what it was to feel hungry and even the lightest foods always disagreed with me. After every meal I had the sharpest kind of pains and a burning sensation in the pit of my stomach, and gas formed which caused shortness of breath and violent palpitation of my heart.

"I had blinding headaches, was very nervous and actually dreaded for night to come, for it only meant hours of restless tossing, trying in vain to sleep. I kept taking medicine, first one kind and then another but nothing seemed to help me.

"But since I have taken Tanlac nothing is left of all these miseries but the memory of them. I have taken just four bottles of this wonderful medicine, and now I have a splendid appetite and never feel a sign of indigestion.

"I never suffer from headaches or nervousness and sleep like a child all night, never waking up once till morning. I couldn't ask to feel any better than I do these days and I can never get over being grateful for Tanlac—the medicine that has made life worth living for me."

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill; in Yellow Springs by A. Finley; Bowersville, N. K. Bowermeister; Fairfield, Paul F. Young; Osborn, C. J. Logsdon; New Barrington, W. C. Smith.

It increases his strength and disease resisting power. It fortifies him against coughs, colds and more serious sickness so apt to come during changeable winter weather. Drop in at the drug store tonight and get a bottle of this modern up-to-date tonic.

SAY MENTALITY OF ACCUSED MAN NOT NORMAL ANY TIME

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 7.—Elwood B. Wade on trial charged with the murder of George E. Not, was a dull backward pupil, according to testimony offered by two of his former instructors. When 12 years old he sat in a class with children six and seven years old, Mrs. Lucy Stebbins, now a dental hygienist, but formerly a school teacher, declared.

Wade's young wife, his father, mother and a number of boyhood friends also testified as to his subnormal mentality. "I couldn't even teach him to say simple childhood prayers," the mother testified on cross examination by State's Attorney Homer S. Cummings. "He's always a good boy and kind to me, but he never was inclined to study."

Mrs. Mary Wade, the accused man's wife, told of her courtship with young Wade, then 16 years old. She was 17 years old at the time. According to the story of Wade's mother had to read the love letters sent to him by his fiancée.

"We used to go for long carriage rides," Mrs. Wade Jr. said. "And what did you talk about?" inquired Mr. Cummings. "A horse," replied Mrs. Wade. "Yes

we generally spoke of a horse; Elwood was very fond of them."

"Do you mean to say that during the entire time of your courtship you spoke only of a horse?" asked Mr. Cummings.

"Oh, no; we spoke of several horses," replied the witness. Judge Hinman ordered an early adjournment of Court this afternoon in order that insanity experts who will testify today, might be prepared.

Call No. 111

TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY TWO ARRESTS MADE IN 9 MONTHS

In the last nine months of the year 1920, 282 arrests were made by members of the city Police Department.

The figures are given out by Chief of Police M. E. Graham, compiled from his records at Police Headquarters. The records only pertain to the last nine months of the year, or from April 1 to December 31 as Chief of Police Graham assumed the head of the department on the former date, when the resignation of former Chief, James M. Canady, became effective.

Records slated at Police Headquarters and later put on the department books, show that the 282 arrests cover almost every kind of crime in the calendar. The records show also a decrease in the number of drunks over a few years back in the days of the open saloon, and show that charge of speeding lead all others now, where drunkenness used to predominate.

The records of the different causes of arrest are as follows: Speeding, 89; drunk, 31; drunk and disorderly, 9; disorderly, 27; loitering 22; train riding, 7; suspicious, 21; petit larceny, 13; grand larceny, 2; keeping a place and selling intoxicating liquors, 3; lunacy, 3; safekeeping, 7; non-support, 4; allowing a minor in a pool room, 1; attempting to rob a car, 2; violation of election law, 2; gambling, 7; assault and battery, 1; contributing to the delinquency of a minor, 2; obtaining goods under false pretense, 1; taking a car without the owner's consent, 3; felony, 1; forgery, 1; attempting to steal a watch, 1; stealing coal, 3; peddling without a license, 2; driving without lights, 3; destruction of property, 1; molesting a female, 1; truancy, 2; arrested for out of town authorities, 71 delinquent, 1. Total 282 for the nine months of the year.

The records of Chief Graham show that on trials following these arrests $403.60 has been paid in costs, while fine amounted to $1,543.76. The costs go to the city and part of the fines in some cases go to the city, and in other cases are divided, the state and county coming in for a share.

The record of the department during the last nine months, shows that with a limited number of men, the department has not been idle during that period, and of the criminals of one kind or another, few have escaped.

The fact that the blotter does not show any serious crimes and no murders during the year, shows that the city has either been well protected under the regime of Chief Graham or has been extremely fortunate.

FORMER RESIDENT OF BEAVERTOWN IS FOUND AFTER SUICIDE

Mrs. Rose McMichael, 54, former resident of Beavertown, whose body was found hanging by a rope from the railing of a porch in the rear of the residence of George Strobel, 12 West Mumma avenue, Dayton, Thursday morning, where she had been staying, committed suicide, according to the verdict of Coroner of Montgomery County.

The body was discovered by Mrs. Strobel at 5:45 o'clock Thursday morning. Members of the Strobel family said that Mrs. McMichael retired at the usual hour Wednesday night and nothing more was seen or heard of her until her body was discovered Thursday morning. She had been visiting at the Strobel home for several days while looking for a place to locate in Dayton.

Coroner Kimmel said the rope was attached to the railing of the porch, suspending the body over the pit leading to the basement. Despondency over ill health is said to have prompted the act.

Mrs. McMichael is survived by one son, George and a brother of Dayton. She was the widow of George McMichael. Funeral services will be held at ten o'clock Saturday morning at 421 St. Paul avenue, and burial will be made in Mt. Zion cemetery.

SPANISH GRANDEE HUNTED ON CHARGE OF STEALING WIFE

Nation Wide Search Conducted for Pierre Paul Author.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Two warrants for the arrest of Pierre Paul Author, alleged panish grandee and war chemist of Highland Park have been sworn out and this gave impetus today to the nation wide hunt that has begun for him and the woman he stole from her husband at the point of a pistol. One warrant charges him with larceny of $100 from Philip Franzen of Madison, Wis., husband of the woman who is said to have fled with Author. The other, sworn out by the wife Author left at Highland Park, charges the fugitive grandee with desertion.

Although Author left a "last will and testament" bequeathing all of his "estate" to his Highland Park wife and their infant daughter, Jenne Anna, it was revealed today that the "estate" consisted of $2 in cash which Author left his wife when he disappeared.

This bequest is now exhausted and Mrs. Author and her child are destitute.

Phillip Franzen, chief decorator at the University of Wisconsin, charges that Author, after forcing him to sign away his wife at a pistol's point, likewise compelled him to contribute $100 to the couple's traveling expenses. While Mrs. Franzen went to get the cash, Franzen declares Author kept him covered with the pistol.

TICKETS GO ON SALE FOR LEAGUE BANQUET

Tickets are now on sale at the headquarters of the Social Service league on Market street for the annual banquet that is to be given at the Chamber of Commerce, Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The price of the tickets is fifty cents a plate, and the league is cordially inviting all who are interested in the work of the organization to be present.

Special efforts are being made by the members of the committee in sending invitations to members of the other organizations of the city, to be present at the banquet.

The executive Committee of the League has secured the services of Dr. H. H. Goddard, of Columbus, director of juvenile research work of Ohio, who will make an interesting address at the meeting.

Following the banquet the election of the new officers of the organization will be held and the yearly reports given.

ANNOUNCE SPEAKER FOR C. OF C. BANQUET ON JANUARY 18

Captain Harry Hurd, will be the principal speaker at the January Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Secretary L. C. Tingey announced Friday that he had secured Captain Hurd for the monthly banquet which will be staged at the Chamber of Commerce Jan. 18.

Captain Hurd was for two years on detached duty with the British Army in Egypt, Palestine, Sura and Turkey, and is said to be one of the best posted men in this section on actual conditions in the East, where a great part of his time has been spent on work among the refugees from those countries.

Captain Hurd's address will be on the subject "Social and Business Conditions in the Far East." As he will leave soon to resume his work in those countries, this will be one of the last addresses he will deliver in this section, and is expected to be one of the most interesting features the local organization has staged at its monthly banquets for some time.

In addition to the address of Capt. Hurd, George V. Sheridan, publisher of the Springfield Sun, and one of the youngest newspaper publishers in the state, will speak briefly at the local banquet on the subject "The Operation of a Daily Newspaper."

Mr. Sheridan has been connected with The Sun for nearly two years in the capacity of publisher, and before that was engaged in newspaper work in Columbus, and was also secretary of the Ohio State Medical Society, publishing the monthly bulletin put out by that organization.

INDIAN GUIDES GO IN SEARCH OF U. S. AIRMEN IN WILDS

American Balloonists Expected to Arrive in Cochrane.

Cochrane, Ont., Jan. 7.—Two Indian guides rushed out of Clue, 15 miles north of here early today in the hope of meeting the three American balloonists who are headed for this town on their way back to civilization and home after being lost in the Canadian wilderness for four days.

The Indians are acting as scouts for newspaper correspondents. If they meet the balloonists they will return immediately to Clute and get the correspondents and take them out to give them a chance to talk with the naval officers before they reach that post.

The belief is general here that the balloonists will reach Clute at least today. It is now 12 days since they are supposed to have started out from Moose Factory on their way south.

The Revillon Freres packet with which it is thought the Americans are making the journey, is now overdue and is expected hourly.

There has been a heavy snowfall here in the last 24 hours and the weather has become much colder.

JAPANESE NAVY ONLY HALF AS BIG AS THAT OF U. S.

Nippor Ambassador To Great Britain Issues Statement.

London, Jan. 7.—"I believe that Secretary of the Navy Daniels is a genuinely religious, peace loving man like most of the Americans, but he has set out to construct a fleet so strong that America will be able to dictate her new conception of right to all the other nations of the world."

This declaration was made by Baron Hayashi, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain in an interview printed in the Daily Telegraph today.

The Japanese ambassador pointed out that, if the new Japanese naval program was completed, the Japanese fleet would equal only half the strength of the American navy.

NEW TOOTH PASTE IS PLACED ON MARKET

Placed on the local market for the first time, Friday, Pa-Ke-Dent, a new toothpaste made by Drs. Pavey and Keester, of Xenia, has begun its career as a dentifrice. The product, which derives its name from the two initial letters of the names of its producers will be manufactured in this city, from which it will be distributed through the Dental Dealers of the United States.

The toothpaste has been in the process of formation for about two years and the finished product has been tried out during the past six months. Its special function is for the prevention and treatment of pyorrhea and acid mouth. Present facilities will permit a turnout of 10 gross of tubes a day, according to Dr. Pavey. The paste will retail at 45c.

Glad To Help Other Sufferers

Morgan County People Use the Famous U & S Stomach Bitters Constantly

"Service to Others" constitutes the real joy of living and the paramount idea of life in the first place. To live within one's self invariably causes one to become selfish and caustic. To aid and assist others on the other hand, always makes us feel better, and nothing a person can do gives greater joy to the recipient and deeper satisfaction to the giver than to aid in killing pain. Mrs. Boileau of Joy, Ohio, gladly testifies to the merits of the Famous U & S Stomach Bitters and wants everyone to know about it. Here is what she says:

F. V. Townsend, Distributor, Columbus, Ohio.

Dear Sir:—

Please find enclosed check for $2.50, for which I send me two bottles of U & S Stomach Bitters. My husband and myself have both been taking it, and find it an excellent remedy for liver and bow troubles; also tones up the system and seems to renew one's vitality. It certainly does all that is claimed for it.

You may use this testimonial if you wish; it may help some one else to a better joy of living.

Respectfully, MRS. A. A. BOILEAU, Joy (Morgan Co.) Ohio.

SIEZE BANK ROBBER AFTER LONG SEARCH

New York, Jan. 7.—Harry L. Bitzberger, alleged Milltown, N. J., bank robber, who saved his way out of New York's West side prison Monday, was brought back last night from Providence, R. I., where he was captured while embracing his wife.

Mrs. Bitzberger, who had been trailed by detectives from Boston to the Rhode Island City, accompanied her husband to police headquarters.

According to detectives who caught Bitzberger, he intended originally to meet his wife at Boston, but noticing men watching him, he decided to meet her in Providence. He knew the car seat Mrs. Bitzberger was in, and just before the train pulled out of the Providence Union Station signaled her and she alighted.

The detectives waited until Bitzberger kissed his wife and then with drawn revolver one of them held him at bay and another slipped handcuffs on his wrists.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Business Men's Association held a meeting last night with about fifty members in attendance. The reports of the committee were heard with reference to a consolidation of the Association and the Board of Trade. There has been no final action taken as yet and the question will come up for further consideration at the next meeting.

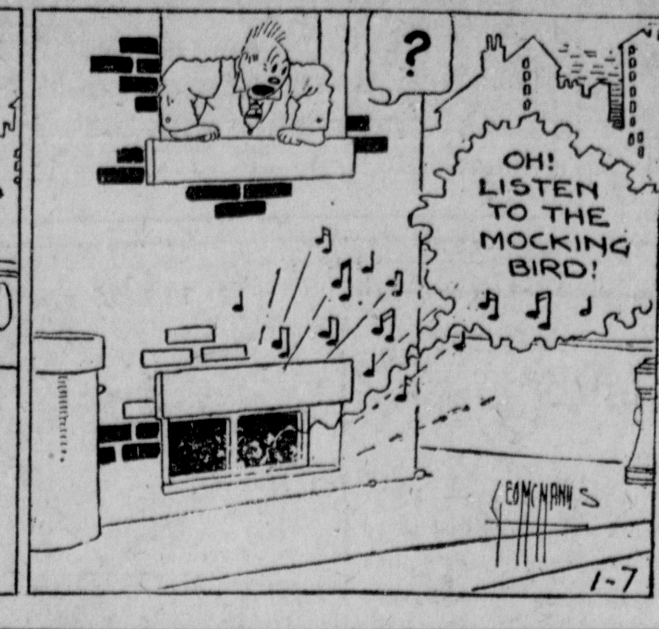

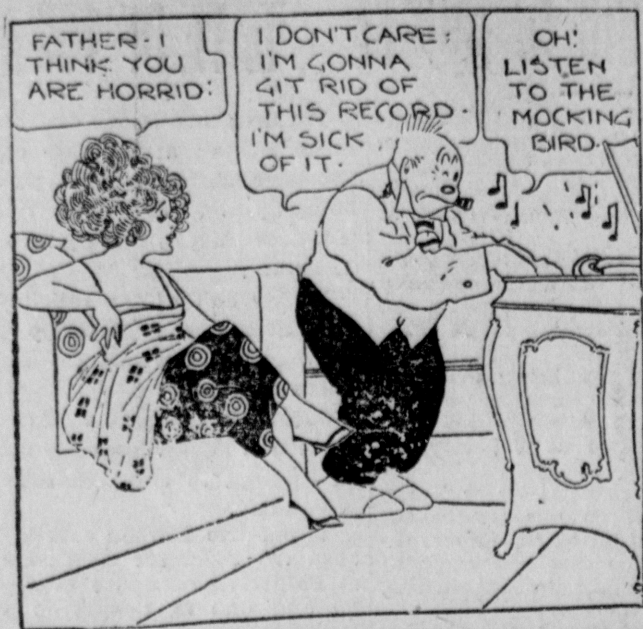

Mr. Thorb Charters, the East Main street jeweler, is again able to appear at his place of business after having been confined to his home for a couple of months past by illness.

There has been no date set as yet for the laying of the corner stone for Greene County's new court house. Meanwhile the work is moving right along in the building and the stone could be laid now at almost any time, but it is desired that the ceremony be delayed as long as possible in order to have good weather for it.

The Court House building commissioners this afternoon sold $100,000 worth of court house bonds. Bids were received until twelve o'clock today but they were not sold until 2 o'clock. There are two hundred bonds of $500 each. There will be gold bonds bearing four per cent interest, $4000 of which shall be due in five years and $4000 each year thereafter. The bond sale today is just half the issue for the new Court House and the remaining $100,000 will not be sold until some time next fall.

A crack checker player who claims to hail from London, England and who has been creating consternation in the ranks of the checker players about the Steinmetz cigar store, met his equal last evening in Mr. Marshall Wolf. In the series of games which were played the champion lost ground steadily, and at the conclusion Marshall had 14 games to his credit while the stranger had only 5.

REQUESTED RECIPES
French Cream Almonds—Place in a bowl two tablespoons of melted butter, one-half cup of water and one teaspoon of vanilla. Sufficient sugar to form a real stiff dough. Knead well to blend and then take a piece the size of a large almond and use it to cover the almonds. Then roll in powdered sugar and lay on greased paper for twelve hours to dry.

French Nut Creams—One-half cup of shelled walnuts, one-half cup of shelled almonds and one ounce of candied citron. Put this through the food chopper and use the fine knife. Add one and a half cups of fondant prepared as for French cream almonds and then work together and blend well. Line a shallow box with wax paper and then fill in this mixture. Tap down firmly and then lay aside for twelve hours. Then with a sharp knife cut in blocks the size of a caramel and wrap in wax paper. The fondant cream may be shaped round and then flavored with wintergreen and colored a delicate pink with vegetable coloring or formed into cones and flavored with cinnamon or nutmeg extract and then dipped in chocolate.

FEWER LAWS ADVOCATED.
Concord, N. H., Jan. 7.—In his inaugural address Governor Albert C. Brown favored economy, adding that to supply funds for the bare needs of government would prove no easy task during the coming year. He advocated fewer laws and repeal of unnecessary statutes.

Pieces of this fondant may be taken the size of a walnut and then shaped round, then press half of an English walnut on each side. Pecan nuts may be used in the same manner.

This fondant is delicious when used to fill stoned prunes and dates. Some fondant may also be used between the two halves of dried apricots.

To prepare the cooked fondant: Use a clean sauce pan and place in it two and one-half cups of granulated sugar, one cup of boiling water and five tablespoons of white corn syrup.

Stir to dissolve the sugar and then bring to a boil and cook the mixture until it forms a thick hair when tested from the tines of a fork or until 245 degrees Fahrenheit is reached on the candy thermometer.

Almond pie—One-half cup of blanched almonds, one-half cup of powdered macaroons, one-half cup of powdered sugar, one-half cup of orange juice, two eggs, two tablespoons of melted butter, dash of cinnamon.

FOR MEATLESS DAYS
Fish Balls—One cup salt fish picked fine or cut with scissors, one pint potatoes, one egg, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, salt if needed, one teaspoon butter.

Wash fish and free it from bones. Pare potatoes and cut them in quarters. Put fish and potatoes in sauce pan, cover with boiling water and boil twenty-five minutes, or till potatoes are soft. Drain off water and mash and beat fish and potatoes until they are light. Add butter and pepper, and when slightly cooled, the egg well beaten. Shape and fry in a basket in smoking hot lard one minute. Drain on brown paper. Use high flame.

The Woman He Married

BY JANE PHELPS

Chapter 58.

Further Success.

That night Junior had a bad attack of the croup. For the first time I had misgivings. Suppose we should lose that legacy and be in debt—as we still were—and either Junior or Dick be really ill? But I soon dismissed the thought. Dick knew the same, knew what he was about. He wouldn't—I almost thought he couldn't lose.

I. C. C. made us $500 in little over a week, I was intoxicated with our success, yet I now know Dick was nearly as affected as was I. The daily papers no longer held any interest for me save the financial pages which I devoured with avidity. I ate, talked, dreamed success, money and of course, clothes. I had no intention of saving—I wanted money for what it would buy, for the show, I could make with it, not for the money itself.

So we built and rebuilt the house we imagined would be better than any architect could plan, while we waited for another safe bit of information that we could use to swell Nan Hardy's account. The fever for speculating for getting money easily, had now gotten into my blood, and already I saw us in the near future possessed of unlimited wealth. Mildred Stowell did no more than I soon could do. I thought gleefully. I would entertain dress, go, have motor cars etc.

Dick had become as interested as I could wish in all my plans, but about the house in the country he was "dippy," so I told him. He could scarcely wait until the dinner things were cleared away before he commenced work. To me his drawings as well as his ideas seemed wonderful. I think that the planning of the house, was a sort of safety valve for his nervousness—a nervousness he never had before shown, but which I never dreamed of laying to his attempt to satisfy my greed for money.

Now, when we played cards he was always the one to suggest raising the limit, instead of objecting when others proposed it, as he used to do when we played for the sport of the game and only risked infinitesimal sums.

He seemed to have suddenly developed into a gambler—so I told him laughingly. "It was always in my blood, Nan. I have had to hold tight always in games of chance or I would have bet more than I could afford."

Dick had not changed all at once. It had been so gradual I had scarcely noticed it.

"Aren't you getting pretty extravagant, Nan?" he asked me one day. I had made several purchases, and to my chagrin they had been delivered after he reached home.

"I don't think so! We have the money to pay if we wish. If we use it to increase our income, why the tradesmen will have to wait."

"Don't get in too deep, that's all."

"Don't worry. I will be careful." I was pretty heavily in debt, but if my conscience ever pricked me the thought of the money we had made, the ease with which we could make more, disposed me to make light of its warnings.

Clara and Jim Watson came up to spend the evening. We had not seen Jim in some time, he had been away on business. After greetings had been exchanged he asked:

"How's the house coming on, Dick?" Our friends were inclined to rag Dick about his plans for a home.

"Bully, on paper!" Dick replied. "If we had a lot I'd start building very soon."

"I'd hate to have you and Nan leave here," Clara said, as we went into the kitchen to make a rarebit.

"Why don't you build too—buy the lot next to us?" Dick inquired, just as though we had already bought our site. "I'll help you plan the house Jim, so you could save the expense of an architect." He had the supreme egotism of the amateur house builder.

"Can't," Jim returned. "Only wish I could. But it takes every cent I can make to live here."

"If you could manage the lot, perhaps I could put you wise how to make a little on the side. But mum's the word."

I was terribly surprised to hear Dick say a thing like that. He had warned me so many times to say nothing to anyone, even to Clara and Jim, of our little speculations.

"I should surely appreciate it, but if it took capital I couldn't take the advantage. Clara squeezes the pay envelope dry."

"That's right, blame the woman!" Clara rejoined, but with a laugh. Tomorrow—A terrible Experience.

D. T. & I. RAILROAD ASKS FOR DAMAGES

For alleged damages to the pilot of one of its engines, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad, asks for judgment of $30 in the Clark county courts against Abraham Friedman, in answer and cross petition to the petition for damages filed by Friedman, whose auto truck was struck by a train.

The railroad company charges that William Friedman, driver of the truck was responsible for the collision with the train, that Friedman approached the crossing on the Clifton pike, near South Charleston at a high rate of speed, that he steered the truck up the tracks toward the train and then jumped for safety, leaving the machine run.

WOULD SAVE FUNSTON.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The House Military Affairs Committee reported out a resolution by Representative James G. Strong, Kansas, Republican, requesting the War Department not to wreck Camp Funston, Kansas. In urging consideration by the committee, Mr. Strong said troops already had been ordered elsewhere and that the government was preparing to dismantle the camp. It was stated the committee voted unanimously and that its action would be transmitted at once to Secretary Newton D. Baker.
